-INTANGIBLE TAX-

Refund Possible Result In Ruling

A decision handed down Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court could mean that many Nebraskans have refunds coming from state and local governments.

Persons eligible, if Friday's ruling is allowed to stand would be those who had paid penalties for failure to report intangible properties under a law passed by the 1961 Legislature.

The law, LB206, was struck down by the state's high court as "unconstitutional and void." (See Story, Page 8.)

It is estimated that several million dollars have been collected under the penalty provisions of the law.

Nullified Penalties

According to Nebraska Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, the court's decision had the effect of ruling that the law had never been passed, thus nullifying all penalties collected under it.

But Meyer noted that Douglas County officials have 20 days to ask the court to reconsider the case, and the court's decision will not be final until there is a ruling on the motion.

In Omaha, Arthur O'Leary, chief deputy attorney for Douglas County, said it is the "normal course" to move for another hearing.

Meanwhile, a meeting was called for Monday so that state and Douglas County legal and tax officials can discuss the problems arising from the far-reaching decision of the high court.

Rehearing

In the event Douglas County does ask a rehearing, arguments on the motion could not be heard until this fall when the supreme court returns from its summer recess.

O'Leary said about $250,000 in intangible tax penalties are being held by the county, under orders from Douglas County District Judge John E. Murphy.

Meyer said the ruling will cause "tremendous problems."

He said his office is studying whether there are now adequate procedures for making any refunds that might be claimed by taxpayers, or if additional legislation is needed.

Discriminatory

The four-year-old law was voided by the Supreme court on grounds that it was discriminatory between members of a class, non-uniform, arbitrary and capricious in operation.

The ruling upheld an Oct. 5, 1964, ruling by Murphy, who also found LB206 to be unconstitutional.

The high court noted that conflicting sections of the law provided for penalties varying from two to 500% of the tax on unreported intangibles.

DePugh Turns Self In

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Robert Bolicar DePugh, national head of the right-wing Minutemen organization, turned himself in Friday after officials charged him with kidnaping two young women who said he tried to enlist them to "use sex as a weapon to blackmail Communists."

A federal fugitive warrant had been asked for DePugh although only state kidnap charges were filed.

DePugh, who has described the Minutemen as an undercover organization to combat communism in this country, was turned in to Circuit Judge Louis Mazuch by his attorney, Walter Jennins.

He was released on $5,000 bond pending his preliminary hearing, which was scheduled for July 20.

The fugitive warrant was filed earlier Friday at the request of Jackson County Prosecutor Lawrence Gepford after his investigator was told by a Minutemen leader that "you'll never find DePugh. He has gone underground."

Signed Statements

Miss Patricia Lucille Beal, 21, of Lake Lotawana, Mo., and Miss Linda Frances Judd, 16, of Independence, Mo., made signed statements supported by polygraph tests, Gepford said, that DePugh attempted to get them to join the Minutemen and "use sex as a weapon to blackmail Communists."

The two women said the 42-year-old DePugh, with a pistol in hand, abducted them early the morning of June 4 at their Independence apartment and forced them to accompany him and a woman companion. They were held captive for two weeks at a Richmond, Mo., residence and then taken to an Independence printing shop used as the local Minutemen headquarters, they said.

They escaped June 16, they said, when a guard 'became careless and we slipped out."

At the Richmond residence, they were guarded constantly by a man and a woman, and were taught some judo holds, they said, and told by DePugh he wanted them to seduce Communists in high U.S. offices.

Would Take Pictures

DePugh told them, they said, he would take pictures and tape recordings so he could blackmail seduced officials and infiltrate U.S. offices with Minutemen.

DePugh visited them almost daily, the young women said, and discussed the dangers of communism. He said he would use the two girls and others, they said, "to get the government back from the Communists and return it to the people."

While captive, Miss Beal said, a guard showed them a submachine gun and "told us what would happen to informers."

House Okays Voting Rights Bill

Washington (AP) — The House, spurred on by Southern voices supporting the measure, passed a bill Friday night designed to sweep away the last resistance to Negro voting in the Deep South.

The vote was 333 to 138. Nebraska's three representatives — Democrat Clair Callan and Republicans Glenn Cunninghm and David Martin —all voted for the bill.

This sent the legislature, a major followup to last year's sweeping civil rights law, to a Senate-House conference committee to work out a compromise. The Senate passed a somewhat different version May 26.

Seven Southern states—Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and parts of North Carolina—would have their voting rights literacy tests suspended under the House bill. Federal officials could be sent in to register Negroes.

Bans Poll Taxes

The bill also outlaws poll taxes in state and local elections, a provision that could lead to difficulties with the Senate in working out a final version of the legislation. The Senate refused to ban poll taxes, but would subject them to a quick court test.

Before giving its overwhelming support for the bill, the House was brought to its feet in a rousing ovation for a Louisiana congressman who urged its passage.

Rep. Hale Boggs, the assistant Democratic leader, who voted against last year's civil rights bill, told the House that, to his sorrow, there is discrimination against Negro voters in parts of the South.

"I shall support it, drastic though it may be, because I believe in the fundamental right of every American to vote," declared Boggs.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., sponsor of the measure, praised Boggs and said his speech "will go ringing through the ages."

After Boggs' speech, Rep. William T. Cahill, R-N.J., who also opposed the Republican substitute, hailed him for an act of courage.

"This is what the South needs," Cahill said. "They need to be told the truth. They know the truth, but they need the leaders to tell them. They need someone with the guts to come out and say it."

The Republican substitute offered by House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, was defeated by a standing, nonrecord vote of 215 to 166—a far wider margin than had been expected.

House Aroused

The key vote came with the House aroused to a high emotional pitch by the speeches of Boggs and Cahill. Packed galleries, with many spectators sitting in the aisles, watched.

Boggs who comes from New Orleans, said he was born in Mississippi "and proud of it," and that his granduncle was the last Confederate field commander to surrender his troops in the Civil War.

In some areas of Louisiana, he said, Negroes are allowed to register and vote "as Americans." But in an area South of New Orleans, he said, out of 4,000 Negroes only 100 are registered, and in others, less than 2% of eligible Negroes are registered.

"Can we say there is no discrimination?" Boggs asked. "Can we honestly say that in our hearts?"

SECTIONS EXPLAINED

Washington (AP) — Here are the major provisions of the voting rights bill passed by the house Friday night.

—Literacy tests would be suspended in states where less than 50% of the voting age population was registered or voted last November. This would include Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, 34 counties in North Carolina, and one county each in Arizona, Idaho and Maine.

—In those same states and counties, if 20 residents of a voting district complained they were still denied the vote because of race, or if the attorney general felt discrimination still existed, federal officials would be sent in to register qualified voters.

—In order to escape the provisions of the law, the covered states would have to satisfy a three-judge court in the District of Columbia that they have not discriminated against voters for five years.

Federal Examiners

—In all other states, when the attorney general brings a voting suit in federal court, the court can authorizethe use of federal examiners.

—Federal observers could be sent to watch over any election in a district to which a federal registrar has been sent in order to insure that registered voters get to cast their ballots.

—Poll taxes would be eliminated as a prerequisite for voting in state and local elections. This would apply to Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

—Criminal penalties would be provided for intimidating voters or persons attempting to help others to vote.

To Be Reconciled

The Senate-passed bill, which will now have to be reconciled with the House bill, is basically similar. The chief differences are that the Senate Bill:

—Does not eliminate poll taxes but authorizes the attorney general to seek a prompt court test of their constitutionality.

—Requires that a person be denied registration by a state official within 90 days of applying to a federal registrar.

—Adds another factor to the automatic coverage. requiring that more than 20% of the voting age population be nonwhite, or that less than 25% of the voting age Negroes of any state be unregistered. This would have the effect of eliminating Virginia as a state, but covering about 30 counties.

Leta Edwards' Poetry Boosts Wheat

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

McCook — Nebraska wheat farmers are getting a special boost and it is coming from poetry and art designed to tell the story of wheat's importance in producing new wealth for a well-fed world.

On the tables of many Nebraska restaurants this summer diners will find a table-mat that has a poem entitled "Nebraska Gold."

The author, Leta M. Edwards, who has written thousands of poems that have gone from her home here to many publications and to become winners in some 25 national contests, says the better you know your subject the easier it is to put in words.

Close To Farm

When Leta Edwards talks about wheat you get the hint that she grew up on a farm and has been close to agriculture and the people responsible for the crops.

"You might just call me a poet buff, but poetry is my hobby and I have loved the wheat country all my life so when the Nebraska Wheat Hearts needed a poem for a table-mat it didn't take me long to dash it off," explained Leta Edwards.

The author gets her point across well, that main street and the world benefit from wheat when she says, "The wheat, man can trade, and need not converse, for wheat is the coin of the universe."

Table Mat

The table-mat became strictly a local product when Mrs. Dee Messinger furnished the art that demonstrates the horn of plenty and the farmer furnishing the products for the nation's dinner tables.

Leta Edwards says one of the rewards from Nebraska Gold has been the many copies of the table-mat she has received from many people who have written to tell her they enjoyed the poem.

She says she lets interesting news set the pace for thoughts that become poems and when she talks about wheat being Nebraska gold the author says the big point to get across is what happens to wheat does play a part in most peoples lives. The poem:

"Nebraska Gold"

You have seen the gold
  On Nebraska's plains
When the wheat stands tall
  After showering rains,
And you, too, have dreamed
  Of a world, well-fed,
from our golden miles
  Of potential bread.
Here, a man's a King;
  And a Wheat-Heart Queen
Reigns at harvest time
  As the combines glean.
The wheat, man can trade,
  and need not converse
for Wheat is the coin
  of the universe.
Give the merchant his wares
  On the city street,
But give us the gold
  Of Nebraska's wheat.

Bill Would Help Aged, Raise Social Security

. . . SENATE SWEEPS ASIDE GOP AMENDMENTS

Washington (AP)— The Senate passed Friday night a historic bill to establish a comprehensive medicare program for 19 million Americans over 65 and raise all present Social Security benefits. The vote was 68 to 21.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., voted with the minority. Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., was announced as paired against the measure

The bill, most far-reaching extension of Social Security since the original act was passed 30 years ago, was sent to conference with the House. That branch passed its version, 313 to 115, April 8.

Democratic leaders expect to start the conference sessions Tuesday or Wednesday and put the legislation into final form by late next week.

House Outlines Kept

But the basic, milestone framework already is assured, since the Senate preserved the main outlines of the House measure.

The Senate version is estimated to carry about $7.5 billion in additional benefits for the first full year of operation, compared with about $6 billion for the House measure.

In the final amendment adopted to the bill, its managers wrote in a slightly higher Social Security tax schedule to take account of the increases in benefits in various amendments adopted by the Senate.

None of the rate increases was higher than one tenth of one per cent

In the final roll call, 55 Democrats and 13 Republicans voted for the bill, while the opposition was made up of 14 Republicans and 7 Democrats

Long Day

Passage came at the end of a long legislative day in which the final issue never was in doubt.

Dozens of amendments were offered and a few minor ones were adopted. But the Democratic leadership had no trouble repulsing all Republican efforts to block or make major changes in the administration bill.

Health care for the elderly was one of the principal planks in the Democratic platform which President Johnson rode to one-sided victory in the 1964 election.

More All-Encompassing

But the legislation now so near enactment is much more all-encompassing than earlier Democratic administration measures which were stymied in Congress.

The nearest thing to a major change came when the bill's managers reversed themselves and accepted an amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., putting an unlimited hospitalization feature into the bill. The Senate adopted it on a voice vote. A similar proposal was defeated Thursday 43 to 39.

Under the bill as it came to the floor, a patient under the basic plan would be entitled to 60 days of hospital care per spell of illness for which he would pay a $40 deductible, and an additional 60 days for which he would pay $10 of the cost of each day.

Indefinitely

Under Hartke's amendment, the additional days beyond the original 60 could continue indefinitely, but with the patient still paying $10 a day.

The long controversy over writing a health care plan into the Social Security system is ended since both versions would do that, although they differ on details of the benefits.

To Complete FDR Vision

Sponsors said the final enactment of the legislation, long popularly known as "medicare," would substantially complete the Social Security system as President Franklin Delano Roosevelt envisaged it.

The House made substantial additions to the health program as submitted by Johnson this year, but he strongly endorsed its version.

Both House and Senate bill contain these programs designed to take care of most of the health needs of Americans over 65 as a matter of right:

1. A basic plan financed under Social Security covering hospital stays, post-hospital nursing-home care, outpatient hospital diagnostic services, and home health visits.

2. A voluntary, supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as other services not included in the basic plan.

7% Boost Retroactive

Both versions would increase all present Social Security payments seven per cent for 20 million present beneficiaries under the retirement, survivor and disability programs. These would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

To finance the higher Social Security payments and the new health program, the bill will bring an increase in payroll taxes next year of about $5 billion as compared with 1965.

Social Security Administration officials said that if the bill becomes law later this month, the seven per cent increases will be reflected in Social Security checks for September received in early October.

The retroactive payment covering the first eight months of the year probably will go out in a separate check in September, they said.

Other Benefits

The bill contains many benefits in addition to the new health care programs and the increases in Social Security payments.

It brings about 170,000 self-employed physicians under Social Security for the first time.

It liberalizes the Kerr-Mills program of aid to indigent persons unable to pay their medical expenses; provides additional funds for higher payments to all 72 million persons on the public assistance rolls including the aged, blind, disabled and dependent children; and boosts sharply the Washington aid available for a variety of child health services.

Curtis Loses Again

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., lost a second try at requiring a larger contribution toward hospital and medical costs by persons above 65 who pay income taxes.

The Senate rejected by a 52 to 40 margin a Curtis effort to increase the first $40 dollars of hospital care and first $50 of medical expenses which beneficiaries must pay under the bill.

Curtis proposed that these payments be increased to the amount of the patient's most recent annual income tax.

Senate, House Versions Differ

BENEFITS TO GO UP

Washington (AP) — The Social Security bill passed by the Senate Friday night will bring substantial future increases in monthly retirement payments under Social Security.

The reason is that both Senate and House versions would increase the wage tax base on which the benefits are figured.

The base, now $4,800 a year, would rise to $5,600 next and $6,600 in 1971 under the House measure. The Senate bill would make it $6,600 starting next year.

The present maximum payment for an individual is $127 a month.

Year Person Is 65	House Bill	Senate Bill
1966	$132.70	$132.70
1967	$133 80	$135 90
1968	$134 90	$138 00
1969	$135.90	$141.00
1970	$137.90	$143.00
1971	$137.90	$144.00
1981	$149.90	$154.00
1991	$154.90	$158.00
2004	$165.90	$168.00
2009	$167.90	$168.00

For a married couple, the payment would be 1½ times the rate for the individual.

-INTANGIBLE TAX-

Refund Possible Result In Ruling

A decision handed down Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court could mean that many Nebraskans have refunds coming from state and local governments.

Persons eligible, if Friday's ruling is allowed to stand would be those who had paid penalties for failure to report intangible properties under a law passed by the 1961 Legislature.

The law, LB206, was struck down by the state's high court as "unconstitutional and void." (See Story, Page 8.)

It is estimated that several million dollars have been collected under the penalty provisions of the law.

Nullified Penalties

According to Nebraska Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, the court's decision had the effect of ruling that the law had never been passed, thus nullifying all penalties collected under it.

But Meyer noted that Douglas County officials have 20 days to ask the court to reconsider the case, and the court's decision will not be final until there is a ruling on the motion.

In Omaha, Arthur O'Leary, chief deputy attorney for Douglas County, said it is the "normal course" to move for another hearing.

Meanwhile, a meeting was called for Monday so that state and Douglas County legal and tax officials can discuss the problems arising from the far-reaching decision of the high court.

Rehearing

In the event Douglas County does ask a rehearing, arguments on the motion could not be heard until this fall when the supreme court returns from its summer recess.

O'Leary said about $250,000 in intangible tax penalties are being held by the county, under orders from Douglas County District Judge John E. Murphy.

Meyer said the ruling will cause "tremendous problems."

He said his office is studying whether there are now adequate procedures for making any refunds that might be claimed by taxpayers, or if additional legislation is needed.

Discriminatory

The four-year-old law was voided by the Supreme court on grounds that it was discriminatory between members of a class, non-uniform, arbitrary and capricious in operation.

The ruling upheld an Oct. 5, 1964, ruling by Murphy, who also found LB206 to be unconstitutional.

The high court noted that conflicting sections of the law provided for penalties varying from two to 500% of the tax on unreported intangibles.

House Okays Voting Rights Bill

Washington (AP) — The House, spurred on by Southern voices supporting the measure, passed a bill Friday night designed to sweep away the last resistance to Negro voting in the Deep South.

The vote was 333 to 138. Nebraska's three representatives — Democrat Clair Callan and Republicans Glenn Cunninghm and David Martin —all voted for the bill.

This sent the legislature, a major followup to last year's sweeping civil rights law, to a Senate-House conference committee to work out a compromise. The Senate passed a somewhat different version May 26.

Seven Southern states—Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and parts of North Carolina—would have their voting rights literacy tests suspended under the House bill. Federal officials could be sent in to register Negroes.

Bans Poll Taxes

The bill also outlaws poll taxes in state and local elections, a provision that could lead to difficulties with the Senate in working out a final version of the legislation. The Senate refused to ban poll taxes, but would subject them to a quick court test.

Before giving its overwhelming support for the bill, the House was brought to its feet in a rousing ovation for a Louisiana congressman who urged its passage.

Rep. Hale Boggs, the assistant Democratic leader, who voted against last year's civil rights bill, told the House that, to his sorrow, there is discrimination against Negro voters in parts of the South.

"I shall support it, drastic though it may be, because I believe in the fundamental right of every American to vote," declared Boggs.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., sponsor of the measure, praised Boggs and said his speech "will go ringing through the ages."

After Boggs' speech, Rep. William T. Cahill, R-N.J., who also opposed the Republican substitute, hailed him for an act of courage.

"This is what the South needs," Cahill said. "They need to be told the truth. They know the truth, but they need the leaders to tell them. They need someone with the guts to come out and say it."

The Republican substitute offered by House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, was defeated by a standing, nonrecord vote of 215 to 166—a far wider margin than had been expected.

House Aroused

The key vote came with the House aroused to a high emotional pitch by the speeches of Boggs and Cahill. Packed galleries, with many spectators sitting in the aisles, watched.

Boggs who comes from New Orleans, said he was born in Mississippi "and proud of it," and that his granduncle was the last Confederate field commander to surrender his troops in the Civil War.

In some areas of Louisiana, he said, Negroes are allowed to register and vote "as Americans." But in an area South of New Orleans, he said, out of 4,000 Negroes only 100 are registered, and in others, less than 2% of eligible Negroes are registered.

"Can we say there is no discrimination?" Boggs asked. "Can we honestly say that in our hearts?"

SECTIONS EXPLAINED

Washington (AP) — Here are the major provisions of the voting rights bill passed by the house Friday night.

—Literacy tests would be suspended in states where less than 50% of the voting age population was registered or voted last November. This would include Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, 34 counties in North Carolina, and one county each in Arizona, Idaho and Maine.

—In those same states and counties, if 20 residents of a voting district complained they were still denied the vote because of race, or if the attorney general felt discrimination still existed, federal officials would be sent in to register qualified voters.

—In order to escape the provisions of the law, the covered states would have to satisfy a three-judge court in the District of Columbia that they have not discriminated against voters for five years.

Federal Examiners

—In all other states, when the attorney general brings a voting suit in federal court, the court can authorizethe use of federal examiners.

—Federal observers could be sent to watch over any election in a district to which a federal registrar has been sent in order to insure that registered voters get to cast their ballots.

—Poll taxes would be eliminated as a prerequisite for voting in state and local elections. This would apply to Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

—Criminal penalties would be provided for intimidating voters or persons attempting to help others to vote.

To Be Reconciled

The Senate-passed bill, which will now have to be reconciled with the House bill, is basically similar. The chief differences are that the Senate Bill:

—Does not eliminate poll taxes but authorizes the attorney general to seek a prompt court test of their constitutionality.

—Requires that a person be denied registration by a state official within 90 days of applying to a federal registrar.

—Adds another factor to the automatic coverage, requiring that more than 20% of the voting age population be nonwhite, or that less than 25% of the voting age Negroes of any state be unregistered. This would have the effect of eliminating Virginia as a state, but covering about 30 counties.

Table Mat

The table-mat became strictly a local product when Mrs. Dee Messinger furnished the art that demonstrates the horn of plenty and the farmer furnishing the products for the nation's dinner tables.

Leta Edwards says one of the rewards from Nebraska Gold has been the many copies of the table-mat she has received from many people who have written to tell her they enjoyed the poem.

She says she lets interesting news set the pace for thoughts that become poems and when she talks about wheat being Nebraska gold the author says the big point to get across is what happens to wheat does play a part in most peoples lives. The poem:

"Nebraska Gold"

You have seen the gold
 On Nebraska's plains
When the wheat stands tall
 After showering rains;
And you, too, have dreamed
 Of a world, well-fed,
from our golden miles
 Of potential bread.
Here, a man's a King;
 And a Wheat-Heart Queen
Reigns at harvest time
 As the combines glean.
The wheat, man can trade,
 and need not converse
for Wheat is the coin
 of the universe.
Give the merchant his wares
 On the city street,
But give us the gold
 Of Nebraska's wheat.

Bill Would Help Aged, Raise Social Security

. . . SENATE SWEEPS ASIDE GOP AMENDMENTS

Washington (AP)— The Senate passed Friday night a historic bill to establish a comprehensive medicare program for 19 million Americans over 65 and raise all present Social Security benefits. The vote was 68 to 21.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., voted with the minority. Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., was announced as paired against the measure.

The bill, most far-reaching extension of Social Security since the original act was passed 30 years ago, was sent to conference with the House. That branch passed its version, 313 to 115, April 8.

Democratic leaders expect to start the conference sessions Tuesday or Wednesday and put the legislation into final form by late next week.

House Outlines Kept

But the basic, milestone framework already is assured, since the Senate preserved the main outlines of the House measure.

The Senate version is estimated to carry about $7.5 billion in additional benefits for the first full year of operation, compared with about $6 billion for the House measure.

In the final amendment adopted to the bill, its managers wrote in a slightly higher Social Security tax schedule to take account of the increases in benefits in various amendments adopted by the Senate.

None of the rate increases was higher than one tenth of one per cent.

In the final roll call, 55 Democrats and 13 Republicans voted for the bill, while the opposition was made up of 14 Republicans and 7 Democrats.

Long Day

Passage came at the end of a long legislative day in which the final issue never was in doubt.

Dozens of amendments were offered and a few minor ones were adopted. But the Democratic leadership had no trouble repulsing all Republican efforts to block or make major changes in the administration bill.

Health care for the elderly was one of the principal planks in the Democratic platform which President Johnson rode to one-sided victory in the 1964 election.

More All-Encompassing

But the legislation now so near enactment is much more all-encompassing than earlier Democratic administration measures which were stymied in Congress.

The nearest thing to a major change came when the bill's managers reversed themselves and accepted an amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., putting an unlimited hospitalization feature into the bill. The Senate adopted it on a voice vote. A similar proposal was defeated Thursday 43 to 39.

Under the bill as it came to the floor, a patient under the basic plan would be entitled to 60 days of hospital care per spell of illness for which he would pay a $40 deductible, and an additional 60 days for which he would pay $10 of the cost of each day.

Indefinitely

Under Hartke's amendment, the additional days beyond the original 60 could continue indefinitely, but with the patient still paying $10 a day.

The long controversy over writing a health care plan into the Social Security system is ended since both versions would do that, although they differ on details of the benefits.

To Complete FDR Vision

Sponsors said the final enactment of the legislation, long popularly known as "medicare," would substantially complete the Social Security system as President Franklin Delano Roosevelt envisaged it.

The House made substantial additions to the health program as submitted by Johnson this year, but he strongly endorsed its version.

Both House and Senate bill contain these programs designed to take care of most of the health needs of Americans over 65 as a matter of right:

1. A basic plan financed under Social Security covering hospital stays, post-hospital nursing-home care, outpatient hospital diagnostic services, and home health visits.

2. A voluntary, supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as other services not included in the basic plan.

7% Boost Retroactive

Both versions would increase all present Social Security payments seven per cent for 20 million present beneficiaries under the retirement, survivor and disability programs. These would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

To finance the higher Social Security payments and the new health program, the bill will bring an increase in payroll taxes next year of about $5 billion as compared with 1965.

Social Security Administration officials said that if the bill becomes law later this month, the seven per cent increases will be reflected in Social Security checks for September received in early October.

The retroactive payment covering the first eight months of the year probably will go out in a separate check in September, they said.

Other Benefits

The bill contains many benefits in addition to the new health care programs and the increases in Social Security payments.

It brings about 170,000 self-employed physicians under Social Security for the first time.

It liberalizes the Kerr-Mills program of aid to indigent persons unable to pay their medical expenses; provides additional funds for higher payments to all 72 million persons on the public assistance rolls including the aged, blind, disabled and dependent children; and boosts sharply the Washington aid available for a variety of child health services.

Curtis Loses Again

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., lost a second try at requiring a larger contribution toward hospital and medical costs by persons above 65 who pay income taxes.

The Senate rejected by a 52 to 40 margin a Curtis effort to increase the first $40 dollars of hospital care and first $50 of medical expenses which beneficiaries must pay under the bill.

Curtis proposed that these payments be increased to the amount of the patient's most recent annual income tax.

BENEFITS TO GO UP

Washington (AP) — The Social Security bill passed by the Senate Friday night will bring substantial future increases in monthly retirement payments under Social Security.

The reason is that both Senate and House versions would increase the wage tax base on which the benefits are figured.

The base, now $4,800 a year, would rise to $5,600 next and $6,600 in 1971 under the House measure. The Senate bill would make it $6,600 starting next year.

The present maximum payment for an individual is $127 a month.

Year Person Is 65	House Bill	Senate Bill
1966	$132.70	$132.70
1967	$133.80	$135.90
1968	$134.90	$138.00
1969	$135.90	$141.00
1970	$137.90	$143.00
1971	$137.90	$144.00
1981	$149.90	$154.00
1991	$154.90	$158.00
2004	$165.90	$168.00
2009	$167.90	$168.00

For a married couple, the payment would be 1½ times the rate for the individual.

LBJ: Viet Nam War To Get Worse

Medicare Bills Have Differences

Washington (AP)—There are important differences between the Senate and House versions of the medicare bill They are:

—The Senate bill would increase the taxable wage base, now $4,800. to $6,600 next year. The House would make it $5,600 next year, $6,600 starting in 1971. The increase in the base has the effect of raising substantially future monthly retirement pay checks.

—The Senate bill would provide unlimited additional hospitalization after the first 60 days provided in both bills, after payment of a $40 deductible. But the Senate would charge the patient $10 for each added day. The Senate bill also would make available 175 home health visits in a year compared to 100 in the House version.

—The Senate bill would authorize retirement at age 60, with reduced payments, for individuals, couples and all other Social Security beneficiaries. The House bill would confine this to widows.

—The Senate bill would make it possible for persons eligible for retirement under Social Security to earn substantially more than they can now without loss of benefits. The House bill liberalizes present law only slightly.

—The Senate bill makes the supplemental health plan effective Jan. 1, 1967, instead of July 1, 1966, as voted by the House.

Under both bills the basic, Social Security health section becomes effective July 1, 1966, except for nursing-home care which would start Jan. 1, 1967.

—The Senate bill would include under the basic plan services of medical specialists in anesthesiology, radiology, physiatry and pathology if these normally are billed as part of hospital charges. Under the House bill, these would be separate fees and included under the supplemental plan.

The bill would make many changes in Social Security laws which have been in controversy for many years.

It would continue payments for a child under the survivor program until age 22 so long as he is in school. Now, they are cut off at age 18, normally before he enters college.

It would blanket under Social Security an additonal 355,000 persons over 72 with only limited Social Security credits.

It would liberalize the Social Security disability program to cover many additional people, although the Senate cut back somewhat on the House provision.

It would cover cash tips under Social Security taxes, but the two bills differ as to the basis.

Johnson Praises Passage

Washington (AP)— President Johnson, at his LBJ ranch in Texas, welcomed the Senate action as signaling certain, swift and historic victory in a "22-year fight to protect the health of older Americans."

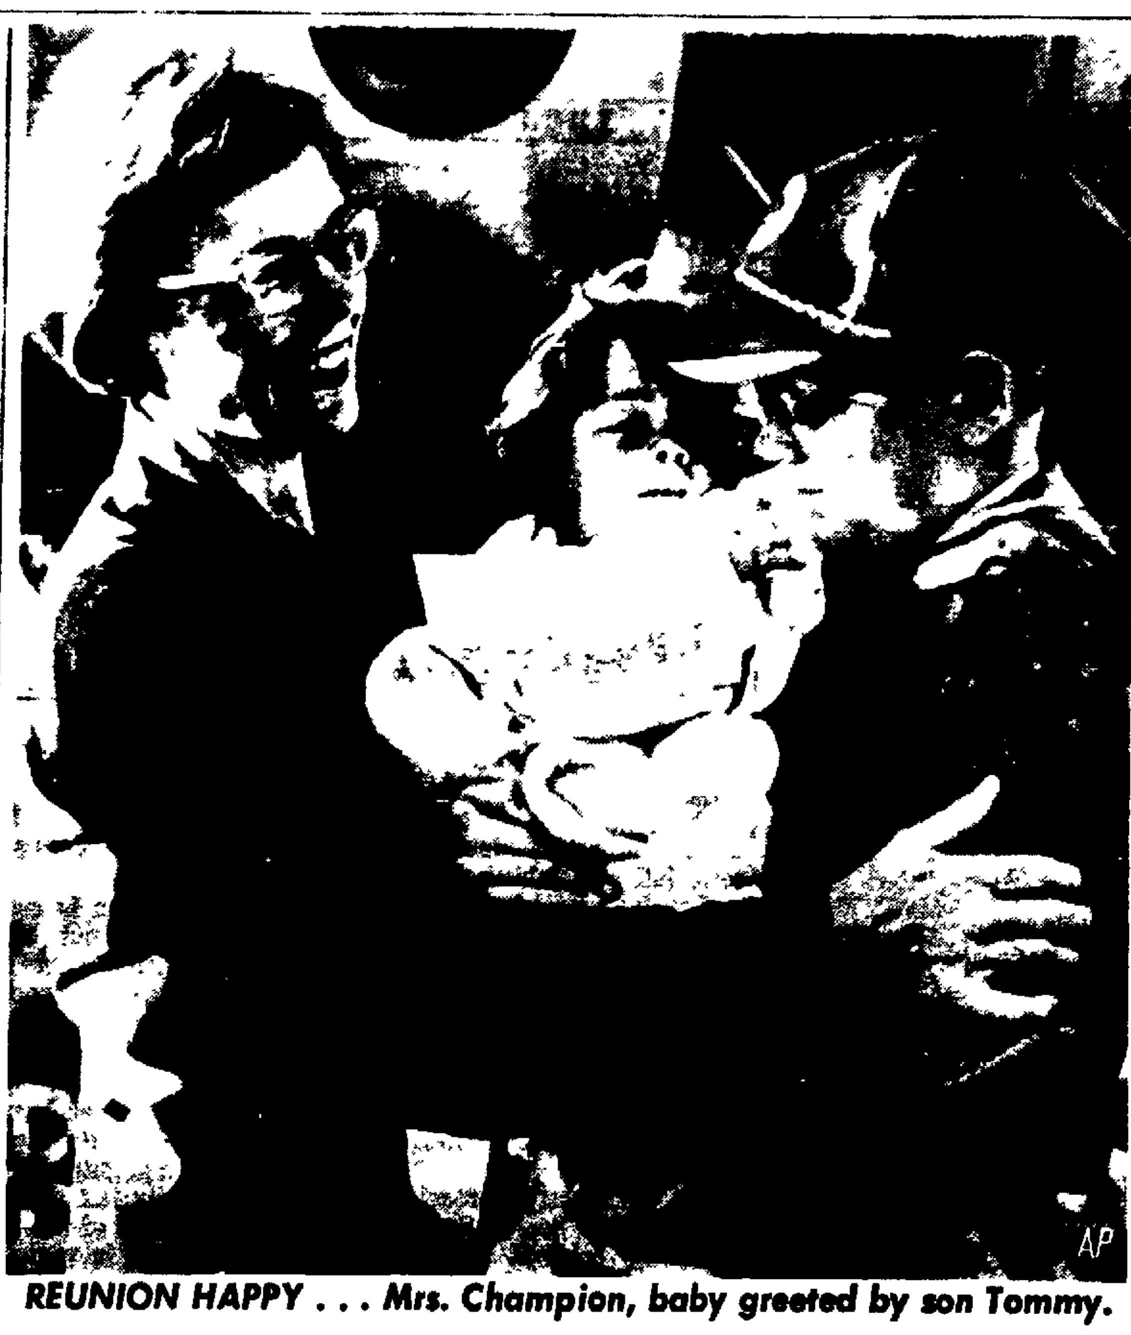
Declaring this is another stone in the enduring monument of the greatness of the late President John F. Kennedy, Johnson added in a statement:

"This is a great day for older Americans. And it's a great day for America. For we have proved, once again, that the vitality of our democracy can shape the oldest of our values to needs and obligations of today."

The President said that once the Senate-House conference completes its work, "a great burden will be lifted from the shoulders of all Americans.

"Older citizens will no longer have to fear that illness will wipe out their savings, eat up their income, and destroy lifelong hope of dignity and independence," Johnson said. "For every family with older members it will mean relief from the often crushing responsibilities of care.

"For the nation it will bring the necessary satisfaction of having fulfilled the obligations of justice to those who have given a lifetime of service and labor to their country."



REUNION HAPPY . . . Mrs. Champion, baby greeted by son Tommy.

Murder Suspects Captured; Champions Freed In Nevada

Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — A terror-filled 24 hours for California Finance Director Hale Champion, his wife and baby daughter ended at the barren Nevada border Friday, with their release and the capture of two murder suspects who kidnaped them.

Champion is California's top appointive officer. Gov. Edmund G. Brown calls him "my good right arm."

The criminal odyssey that started Monday in Portland, Ore., wound up four days and 1,000 miles later near the mile-high desert crossroads community of Benton Station, Calif., on the edge of the Sierra Nevada when exconvicts Wilford (alias Wilfred) Marion Gray and Carl Cletus Bowles surrendered meekly.

Throw Down Guns

Gray, 30, born in Brunswick, Ga., and Bowles, 24, of Lubbock, Tex., both recently released from Oregon state penitentiary, threw down their guns at the order of two California highway patrolmen.

The two men were arraigned in U.S. District Court in Sacramento, where FBI agents brought them after their arrest. Judge Thomas J. Macride set bond at $100,000 each after advising them of the charges and their constitutional rights.

He also formally told them of similar charges, plus a bank robbery count, pending in Portland, Ore., where bail has been set at $150,000 each.

'You Need Lawyer'

Speaking of their right to an attorney, the judge said, "At the present moment you certainly need the presence of an attorney."

The two men stood expressionless before the judge with their arms folded.

Their toll during the spree, officials said, included one slain deputy sheriff, nine kidnaping charges, a $12,500 bank robbery, a motel robbery, and a charge of rape against Gray.

The two-man crime wave triggered one of the biggest manhunts in Far Western history, involving hundreds of officers and Brown's personal intervention.

Release Requested

Shortly after Champion, 41, was wounded by a pistol-toting Tonopah, Nev., card dealer—whom Champion called a "vigilante" — Gray and Bowles heeded officers' requests that they release him for treatment.

Then two hours later, without explanation, they abandoned the sheriff's car containing Champion's wife Marie, 39, and 19-month-old daughter, Katherine Marie.

They fled on foot across the desert, heading for the mountains until a tightening net of police blocked their way at Benton Station. Then Gray and Bowles, who had said repeatedly they would probably be killed, tossed down their guns and gave up.

'Courteous, Pathetic'

Mrs. Champion described the men as "courteous all the time" and "pathetic." Her husband said the gunmen had established "a really pleasant relationship with our family, under the circumstances."

The Champions had an emotional reunion in the tiny, barracks-style hospital in Tonopah—seat of Nye County, Nev.

Champion jokingly said the bullet wound in his upper left thigh required "two band-aids."

Police said the ex-convicts' spree started in Tigard, Ore., just outside Portland, at 2 a.m. last Monday when Gray and Bowles robbed a motel and Gray then raped the owner.

Six Bullets, Shotgun Blast

Police said the spree then began in earnest when Gray and Bowles robbed a Portland, Ore., bank of some $12,500, then pumped a shotgun blast and six bullets into Deputy Sheriff Carlton E. Smith when he stopped their car near Springfield, Ore.

The fugitives then went to the nearby home of Mrs. David Corbin, 33, forcing the housewife and her 12-year-old son, Clinton, to drive them into the Cascade Mountains.

When the car stalled, Gray and Bowles commandeered a camper truck carrying four persons—Mr. and Mrs. Uldis Riekstins, their son, Janis, 14, and a friend, Zanis Buaze, all of Renton, Wash.—held them hostage along with Mrs. Corbin and her son, and began the long drive south to Sacramento.

Abandon Camper

Not far from the California capitol Bowles and Gray abandoned the camper, warning the occupants not to notify police. Heeding the warning, the freed kidnap victims drove 25 miles away and waited four hours before letting police know their whereabouts.

Meanwhile the gunmen wandered for miles to the Champion home in an outlying, secluded section of Sacramento.

They aroused the Champions at 3 a.m. and forced them into the family car at gunpoint. The baby awoke and began to cry, so the men forced Mrs. Champion to bring her along.

Ten-year-old Tommy Champion and a boy cousin slept unknowingly on a sunporch, and the kidnaping did not become known for nearly six hours

Fears Mount For Kidnaped Girl's Safety

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI)—Fears mounted Friday for the safety of a 9-year-old girl who was kidnaped in a robbery at her grandparents' motel and a warrant was issued for a fugitive wanted for questioning.

Searchers on foot, horseback and in airplanes fanned out in a 15-square-mile area from the motel where a bandit whisked away red-haired Denise Clinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Clinton of Independence, Mo., as she lay asleep early Thursday.

Robert Lee Hays, 32, was sought for questioning. He stands 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 145 pounds.

Washington (AP) — President Johnson predicted Friday that the war in Viet Nam "will get worse before it gets better." He said more American troops will be sent there beyond the 75,000 already announced.

Johnson went over the Vietnamese situation—"I have neither a rosy nor a gloomy report," he said—with newsmen at his White House office before flying off for a weekend at his Texas ranch.

Dominican Crisis Better

The diminishing Dominican crisis—Johnson seemed encouraged about that — Europe's Common Market troubles, the balance of payments and U.S. finances got some attention at the informal 23-minute news conference.

But with the President's appointment of Henry Cabot Lodge to succeed Maxwell D. Taylor as ambassador to South Viet Nam and the guerrillas' stepup of their monsoon offensive, both Johnson and the several score reporters crowded about his desk focused mainly on the great Southeast Asian problem.

While more will be known about the Viet Nam situation after Lodge and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara return from their survey trip to Saigon next week, Johnson said, casualties from the rising Viet Cong guerrilla attacks are mounting.

Some 4,556 Communist Viet Cong, 1,900 South Vietnamese and 40 American soldiers died in the May 15-July 3 period, Johnson said, adding, "We have lost in the neighborhood of 300 men in the period since I have been President.

"We expect that it will get worse before it gets better.

"They have had substantial increases in the aggression forces. They're swinging wildly. They have suffered substantial losses in their sneak attacks.

"Our manpower needs there are increasing and will continue to do so. We have some 60,000-odd people there now, and they are landing each day—some 75,000 that will be there very shortly. There will be others that will be required.

"Whatever is required I am sure will be supplied," Johnson stressed. "We don't plan to let up until the aggression ceases."

Stennis And Reserves

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate's watchdog defense subcommittee, said in a filmed television program that if the total exceeds 75,000 men, "this will likely mean the callup of some of our reserves."

"I do not know what units, of course, nor when, and I will not know until it already has happened," he added.

"I really see the possibility of us having to literally take over great areas of that country—the civil government as well as the military operations—and run it more or less on our own, not for conquest but for victory," Stennis said.

'Serious Step'

"Now that's a serious step, of course. It would be misunderstood in other parts of the world, perhaps, but frankly, I think that's the only way we'll ever win. . ."

Johnson declined to say whether the boost in U.S. troop commitments in Viet Nam will mean a callup of reservists and enlargement of the draft in this country. "When we have any plans or announcements to make of that nature, I will get in touch with you, newsmen," he replied.

U.S. Marines Crush Reds On An Hoa

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines — first American ground force to be used in direct reaction against a Viet Cong attack — rushed to the rescue of a Vietnamese naval headquarters overrun by the Viet Cong on An Hoa Island Friday and a spokesman announced they crushed the assault force in bloody fighting.

They killed eight Viet Cong and captured 16. Fifty-two other men were rounded up as suspects. Marine losses were three killed and 11 wounded.

Thirty-eight U.S. Air Force planes made the deepest announced penetration of North Viet Nam with a raid of an ammunition depot at Yen Bay, 75 miles northwest of Hanoi and a similar distance south of Red China's frontier.

American paratroopers and their Australian and Vietnamese allies in a 2,500-man task force wound up their second and most successful combined operation against the Viet Cong in the D-Zone jungle and pulled back to their base at Bien Hoa, 12 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. officers estimated the task force killed about 150 of the Red enemy, in contrast to negligible results from the first such combined operation last month. Seven were captured.

The U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade, which provided the American contingent, suffered 10 killed and 42 wounded.

JOSEPH ROMEO MARTIN

Ex-Con Slain In Gang Style

Revere, Mass. (AP) — Joseph Romeo Martin, 41, who once made one of the longest home runs on record, was found shot to death Friday.

Martin hit a homer in a prisoners' ball game outside the state prison at Walla Walla, Wash., where he was an inmate in 1951. He rounded second base at full speed—and kept on going into the woods. He was recaptured a few months later in Boston.

Martin had a long record. His body was found in the front seat of a convertible, with five bullet holes in his chest.

Police listed him as the 21st victim of a gangland slaying in the Greater Boston area in 16 months.

Canadian Airplane Bombed?

Vancouver, B.C. (UPI) — Authorities Friday seized all flight insurance and other records connected with a Canadian Pacific DC6B airliner that exploded and crashed Thursday with the loss of 52 lives. Sabotage by bomb may be among the possible causes being probed by investigators.

A senior officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said the investigators were leaning heavily toward "the bomb theory."

Department of Transport (DOT) officials impounded all flight insurance, cargo manifests, maintenance records and passenger lists.

"We have not yet found anything to definitely suggest sabotage," said Regional DOT Director Dr. Thomas How, "but there are many things to consider and sabotage is one of them."

A witness to the crash said the tail section of the plane exploded in air before the craft hurtled to earth in a long spiral and smashed into heavily wooded area of cariboo ranch country near Dog Creek 150 miles north of Vancouver.

Two Americans were listed among the dead. They were identified as Mr. and Mrs. MacLennan of Los Angeles, Calif.

Medicare Bills Have Differences

Washington (AP)—There are important differences between the Senate and House versions of the medicare bill. They are:

—The Senate bill would increase the taxable wage base, now $4,800, to $6,600 next year. The House would make it $5,600 next year, $6,600 starting in 1971. The increase in the base has the effect of raising substantially future monthly retirement pay checks.

—The Senate bill would provide unlimited additional hospitalization after the first 60 days provided in both bills, after payment of a $40 deductible. But the Senate would charge the patient $10 for each added day. The Senate bill also would make available 175 home health visits in a year compared to 100 in the House version.

—The Senate bill would authorize retirement at age 60, with reduced payments, for individuals, couples and all other Social Security beneficiaries. The House bill would confine this to widows.

—The Senate bill would make it possible for persons eligible for retirement under Social Security to earn substantially more than they can now without loss of benefits. The House bill liberalizes present law only slightly.

—The Senate bill makes the supplemental health plan effective Jan. 1, 1967, instead of July 1, 1966, as voted by the House.

Under both bills the basic, Social Security health section becomes effective July 1, 1966, except for nursing-home care which would start Jan. 1, 1967.

—The Senate bill would include under the basic plan services of medical specialists in anesthesiology, radiology, physiatry and pathology if these normally are billed as part of hospital charges. Under the House bill, these would be separate fees and included under the supplemental plan.

The bill would make many changes in Social Security laws which have been in controversy for many years.

It would continue payments for a child under the survivor program until age 22 so long as he is in school. Now, they are cut off at age 18, normally before he enters college.

It would blanket under Social Security an additonal 355,000 persons over 72 with only limited Social Security credits.

It would liberalize the Social Security disability program to cover many additional people, although the Senate cut back somewhat on the House provision.

It would cover cash tips under Social Security taxes, but the two bills differ as to the basis.

Throw Down Guns

Gray, 30, born in Brunswick, Ga., and Bowles, 24, of Lubbock, Tex., both recently released from Oregon state penitentiary, threw down their guns at the order of two California highway patrolmen.

The two men were arraigned in U.S. District Court in Sacramento, where FBI agents brought them after their arrest. Judge Thomas J. Macride set bond at $100,000 each after advising them of the charges and their constitutional rights.

He also formally told them of similar charges, plus a bank robbery count, pending in Portland, Ore., where bail has been set at $150,000 each.

'You Need Lawyer'

Speaking of their right to an attorney, the judge said, "At the present moment you certainly need the presence of an attorney."

The two men stood expressionless before the judge with their arms folded.

Their toll during the spree, officials said, included one slain deputy sheriff, nine kidnaping charges, a $12,500 bank robbery, a motel robbery, and a charge of rape against Gray.

The two-man crime wave triggered one of the biggest manhunts in Far Western history, involving hundreds of officers and Brown's personal intervention.

Release Requested

Shortly after Champion, 41, was wounded by a pistol-toting Tonopah, Nev., card dealer—whom Champion called a "vigilante" — Gray and Bowles heeded officers' requests that they release him for treatment.

Then two hours later, without explanation, they abandoned the sheriff's car containing Champion's wife Marie, 39, and 19-month-old daughter, Katherine Marie.

They fled on foot across the desert, heading for the mountains until a tightening net of police blocked their way at Benton Station. Then Gray and Bowles, who had said repeatedly they would probably be killed, tossed down their guns and gave up.

'Courteous, Pathetic'

Mrs. Champion described the men as "courteous all the time" and "pathetic." Her husband said the gunmen had established "a really pleasant relationship with our family, under the circumstances."

The Champions had an emotional reunion in the tiny, barracks-style hospital in Tonopah—seat of Nye County, Nev.

With his arm encircling his wife's shoulders, Champion faced newsmen—but declined to talk in detail of his experience, pleading exhaustion. Meanwhile, their tousle-haired daughter slept in another room at the hospital.

Champion jokingly said the bullet wound in his upper left thigh required "two band-aids."

Police said the ex-convicts' spree started in Tigard, Ore., just outside Portland, at 2 a.m. last Monday when Gray and Bowles robbed a motel and Gray then raped the owner.

Six Bullets, Shotgun Blast

Police said the spree then began in earnest when Gray and Bowles robbed a Portland, Ore., bank of some $12,500, then pumped a shotgun blast and six bullets into Deputy Sheriff Carlton E. Smith when he stopped their car near Springfield, Ore.

The fugitives then went to the nearby home of Mrs. David Corbin, 33, forcing the housewife and her 12-year-old son, Clinton, to drive them into the Cascade Mountains.

When the car stalled, Gray and Bowles commandeered a camper truck carrying four persons—Mr. and Mrs. Uldis Riekstins, their son, Janis, 14, and a friend, Zanis Buaze, all of Renton, Wash.—held them hostage along with Mrs. Corbin and her son, and began the long drive south to Sacramento.

Abandon Camper

Not far from the California capitol Bowles and Gray abandoned the camper, warning the occupants not to notify police. Heeding the warning, the freed kidnap victims drove 25 miles away and waited four hours before letting police know their whereabouts.

Meanwhile the gunmen wandered for miles to the Champion home in an outlying, secluded section of Sacramento.

They aroused the Champions at 3 a.m. and forced them into the family car at gunpoint. The baby awoke and began to cry, so the men forced Mrs. Champion to bring her along.

Ten-year-old Tommy Champion and a boy cousin slept unknowingly on a sunporch, and the kidnaping did not become known for nearly six hours.

Fears Mount For Kidnaped Girl's Safety

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI)— Fears mounted Friday for the safety of a 9-year-old girl who was kidnaped in a robbery at her grandparents' motel and a warrant was issued for a fugitive wanted for questioning.

Searchers on foot, horseback and in airplanes fanned out in a 15-square-mile area from the motel where a bandit whisked away red-haired Denise Clinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Clinton of Independence, Mo., as she lay asleep early Thursday.

Robert Lee Hays, 32, was sought for questioning. He stands 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 145 pounds.

New Delhi, India (AP) — Irrigation Minister K. L. Rao says a tree belt must be planted around New Delhi to prevent the Great Indian Desert from advançing into the capital.

U.S. Marines Crush Reds On An Hoa

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines — first American ground force to be used in direct reaction against a Viet Cong attack — rushed to the rescue of a Vietnamese naval headquarters overrun by the Viet Cong on An Hoa Island Friday and a spokesman announced they crushed the assault force in bloody fighting.

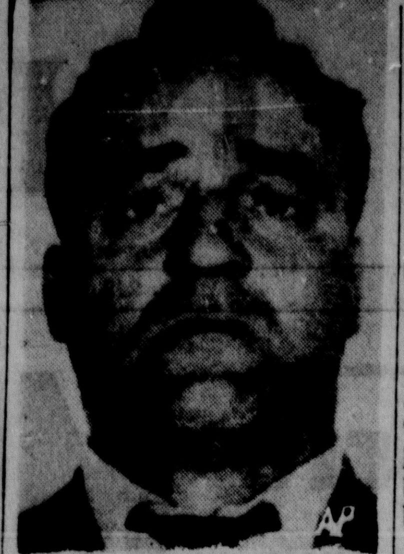
They killed eight Viet Cong and captured 16. Fifty-two other men were rounded up as suspects. Marine losses were three killed and 11 wounded.

Thirty-eight U.S. Air Force planes made the deepest announced penetration of North Viet Nam with a raid of an ammunition depot at Yen Bay, 75 miles northwest of Hanoi and a similar distance south of Red China's frontier.

American paratroopers and their Australian and Vietnamese allies in a 2,500-man task force wound up their second and most successful combined operation against the Viet Cong in the D-Zone jungle and pulled back to their base at Bien Hoa, 12 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. officers estimated the task force killed about 150 of the Red enemy, in contrast to negligible results from the first such combined operation last month. Seven were captured.

The U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade, which provided the American contingent, suffered 10 killed and 42 wounded.



JOSEPH ROMEO MARTIN

Ex-Con Slain In Gang Style

Revere, Mass. (AP) — Joseph Romeo Martin, 41, who once made one of the longest home runs on record, was found shot to death Friday.

Martin hit a homer in a prisoners' ball game outside the state prison at Walla Walla, Wash., where he was an inmate in 1951. He rounded second base at full speed—and kept on going into the woods. He was recaptured a few months later in Boston.

Martin had a long record. His body was found in the front seat of a convertible, with five bullet holes in his chest.

Police listed him as the 21st victim of a gangland slaying in the Greater Boston area in 16 months.

Canadian Airplane Bombed?

Vancouver, B.C. (UPI) — Authorities Friday seized all flight insurance and other records connected with a Canadian Pacific DC6B airliner that exploded and crashed Thursday with the loss of 52 lives. Sabotage by bomb may be among the possible causes being probed by investigators.

A senior officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said the investigators were leaning heavily toward "the bomb theory."

Department of Transport (DOT) officials impounded all flight insurance, cargo manifests, maintenance records and passenger lists.

"We have not yet found anything to definitely suggest sabotage," said Regional DOT Director Dr. Thomas How, "but there are many things to consider and sabotage is one of them."

A witness to the crash said the tail section of the plane exploded in air before the craft hurtled to earth in a long spiral and smashed into heavily wooded area of cariboo ranch country near Dog Creek 150 miles north of Vancouver.

Two Americans were listed among the dead. They were identified as Mr. and Mrs. MacLennan of Los Angeles, Calif.

These and many more questions which have perplexed and puzzled loyal Americans regarding internal subversion will be answered by one who has lived inside this conspiracy for 26 years.

- ● Why Americans Become Communists.
- ● Why Communists Leave the Party.
- ● How Communists have been brain washed into silence when they do leave the party (instead of alerting their fellow citizens to the danger of this conspiracy).
- ● How powerful and influential this well organized, well trained minority is.
- ● How these "dedicated few" manipulate innocent people and organizations into unwilling dupes.
- ● How far into our political organizations and government the Reds have managed to infiltrate.

59 Bushel Corn Crop Forecast; Tops '64 Yield

. . . Wheat Outlook Improves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska's 1965 corn crop, grown principally in areas more favored in moisture this season was forecast at 59 bushels per acre Friday.

The first U.S. Department of Agriculture forecast on the new corn crop called for a production of 221,014,000 bushels from 3,746,000 acres.

In 1964 the state's corn crop was 52 bushels per acre or 214,032,000 bushels from 4,116,000 acres.

The 1963 crop averaged 56 bushels per acre and the 1962 crop was 60.5 bushels per acre.

The state's winter wheat crop outlook was slightly improved from last month's report. With the harvest now getting under way — pushed by a liberalizing of rains in recent weeks, the state's winter wheat crop was estimated at 66,562,000 bushels, an increase of some four million bushels over the outlook of a month ago.

The per acre yield jumped one bushel per acre from 22 to 23. Nebraska will harvest the crop from 2,894,000 acres. The 1964 wheat crop was 73,825,000 bushels or 25 bushels per acre from 2,953,000 acres. This was considerably better than the 1963 yield of 21.5 bushels per acre and 19.5 bushels harvested in 1962.

The winter wheat outlook has been bleak from the outset with a dry winter and a dry spring until recent weeks, plus unseasonably cool weather which held back the crops in some sections of the state.

For other crops, the Department of Agriculture had this forecast:

Oats: 38 bushels per acre or 27,436,000 bushels from 722,000 acres. A remarkable upturn from the 29.5 bushel-per-acre crop grown in 1964. In 1962 the oats yield was 33 bushels per acre.

Sorghums: 2,566,000 acres for harvest. No forecast of yield or production was made.

Sugar beets: 68,000 acres yielding 15 tons per acre or 1,020,000. This is slightly off the 1964 pace of 16.3 tons per acre or 1,403,000 tons.

Dry beans: 76,000 acres yielding 1,600 pounds per acre of 1,216,000 hundred weight. This compares with 1,550 rounds per acre or 1,116,000 hundred weight in 1964.

U.S. Corn Crop Is Forecast At 3,912,036,000 Bu.

Washington (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Friday forecast a 1965 corn crop of 3,912,036,000 bushels and a wheat crop of 1,353,813,000 bushels.

The first production estimate of the year of the 1965 corn corp compares with last year's output of 3,548,604,000 bushels and the 1959-63 average of 3,817,311,000 bushels.

This is the fifth consecutive year that the corn crop has been grown under a voluntary feed grain reduction program.

The wheat forecast was made up of 1,069,969,000 bushels of winter wheat and 283,844,000 bushels of spring wheat.

The wheat estimate compared with prospects last month of an all wheat crop of 1,282,986,000 bushels.

A native of Hay Springs, and a graduate of NU, Trenkle has been on the University staff since 1956, except for military leave in 1958 and from 1961-62.

Meanwhile, the AAACE has accepted an invitation by the University of Nebraska to meet at Lincoln in 1967, the Cornhusker state's centennial year.

R. J. Graham, chairman of the university's department of information, who issued the invitation, said the organization would meet in July of 1967 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Floyd Stewart, about 60, was charged by a federal grand jury in an indictment filed in Omaha on April 15.

The indictment charges Stewart, employed as manager of the Kellogg Grain Company elevator, with appropriating wheat during early 1964.

Lawrence Due To Bulge At Seams For Diamond Jubilee Celebration

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Lawrence — Company's coming this weekend, probably 10 times the total populace of this Nuckolls County community of 350.

Sons and daughters and grandkids by the dozen will be swarming in for the town's Diamond Jubilee. They'll still find plenty of home-towners and farmers from miles around Saturday and Sunday —and a carnival-lined main street.

"For promotion money we've sold nearly 500 Jubilee Club memberships, some in nearly every state and one in Brazil," said Mrs. H. C. Ostdiek, whose publisher husband is co-chairman with implement dealer Harold Schroer.

"They won't all make it home, of course, but a lot of them will if there's any way possible."

Certain to spark many a convention is the 112-page 75th anniversary book printed in the Ostdieks' plant. Nearly 200 photos ("We put out a plea and oh, they came in!") retrace the town's steps even beyond its 1890 incorporation.

Recalled is the long-gone settlement of Beachamville, succeeded by St. Stephens about 1880. Less than a decade later Lawrence replaced both, 2½ miles north where the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington chose to cross.

St. Stephens was perpetuated in a namesake rural church, however, that is still the center of activity for surrounding farm families. An even larger Sacred Heart—the only church in Lawrence—adds further to a Catholic character in the community that is near-total.

The Lawrence bewhiskered will also be reminiscing of things more recent, for instance the state six-man football championship of 1952 and the eight-man title only seven years later.---

The John Beykes, who observed their 60th anniversary May 22 as one of the oldest couples around, will see their wedding-day snapshot in the book — complete to honeymoon horse and buggy.

"Mail carrier LaVern Kohmetscher and his wife spent two weeks gathering information from our old Locomotive files," said Mrs. Ostdiek. E. J. Barrett and Glen Friend, retired postmaster and grocer, helped as much in the compiling as they had in the history-making.

Co-starring with Gov. Frank Morrison in Saturday's 3:30 p.m. parade will be Alois Chvala and Mrs. Dave Pohlmeier, celebration king and queen. A steam threshing exhibition at 1 p.m. will stir old-timers' memories, and night will bring the first of two street dances.

Sunday afternoon's schedule calls for a firemen's water fight and the appearance at 4 p.m. of Red Cloud's Indian Dancers. And — at 1890 prices of two bits a plate—some 3,000 persons are expected for an evening beef barbecue.

Laurel Crash Claims Life Of Fourth Victim

Sioux City (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Kiekbush, 66, of La Crosse, Wis., died in a Sioux City hospital Friday, fourth victim of a two-car collision on U.S. 20 one mile north of Laurel, Neb. Saturday night.

Her husband, George, also 66, remains in good condition but Keith Rohrke, 15, Wayne, Neb., passenger in a car driven by John Barr, 16, also of Wayne, remains in critical condition.

Mrs. Kiekbush's death brings the Nebraska highway death toll for 1965 to 163 compared with 178 at this time a year ago and raises the Independence Day death toll to 10.

Killed outright in the two-car crash were Janice Sanders, 15, and Karen Jones, 16, of Laurel. Susan Sanders, 16, sister of Janice, died early Sunday.

State Trooper Roy Van Winkle said the Kiekbush car and the car carrying the teenagers collided broadside.

Cooper Named Publisher Of N. Platte Paper

North Platte (AP) — C. H. (George) Cooper has been named publisher and general manager of the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin, succeeding the late Louis A. Kelly, publisher and co-founder.

Kelly died Nov. 23, 1964 after 45 years of continuous association with North Platte newspapers.

James Kirkman has been assigned to duty as the assistant general manager and advertising manager, the announcement said.

The promotion of Cooper was announced by Joe W. Seacrest, president of the North Platte Publishing Co., which publishes the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin. Cooper was associated with Kelly as general manager for 18 years and with Seacrest for more than 20 years.

Two Hospitalized After Collision

Cars driven by Sheldon M. Spencer Jr., 24, of 1400 No. 33rd and Henry G. Dobler, 47, of Oak Park, Ill., collided Friday evening at 24th and P, hospitalizing two people, police said.

The Spencer car was eastbound on P, and his wife, Janine, 22, was a passenger. Spencer was held and listed in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital with cuts and bruises.

A passenger in the Dobler car, southbound on 24th, his wife, Esther C., 47, was held at the hospital complaining of neck, back and wrist pains and listed in good condition.

Dobler was treated for neck pains, and released, as was Mrs. Spencer, who suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Report Says McDonald's Death Suicide

Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—A special investigator said Friday his final report calls the mysterious death of Eugene (Stormy) McDonald III, wealthy young heir, a suicide.

The body of McDonald, 23, heir to a Zenith Radio Corp. fortune, was found in his rented home here Feb. 3. There was a bullet wound in the back of his head.

McDonald formerly attended the University of Omaha where he became a close friend of actor Peter Fonda, also student at the university. After McDonald's death, Fonda described him as "my closest friend."

A 17-page report issued by Jack Lyon, a Pima County sheriff's investigator, supported the contention of the sheriff's office that McDonald killed himself.

A coroner's jury ruled that McDonald died as a result of a gunshot wound in the presence of person or persons unknown. Justice of the Peace Toby LaVetter has stated publicly that he disagreed with the jury's verdict.

LaVetter said he hasn't finished reading the Lyon report but added "at this stage I don't envisage any particular action to be taken on the matter."

McCook Wheat Yields Run From 20 To 30 Bu.

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

McCook — Yields of 20 to 30 bushel per acre have been widely reported in this area with a few reports of yields up to 40 bushels per acre, according to grain elevators and the Red Willow county extension office.

Combining began in this area in competition with numerous showers that have handicapped farmers in moving wheat from the fields.

Bill Egen, a State Labor Department representative, at a combine check point here said there has been a surplus of manpower but a shortage of combines interested in smaller jobs.

"Many of the combines coming through the state are reluctant to stop for jobs under 150 acres and prefer to move on and catch up with the harvest just starting further north," said Egan.

While near 200 combines moved through the state combine check point here the first four days of the week, the big rush of transient combines was expected this weekend, according to George Berver, of the State Weed and Seed Division, who is checking the combines at the entry point.

Grain elevator spokesmen reported that some test weights had been reduced by the rains and weedy fields but that several days of favorable weather would be beneficial in wrapping up the harvest in the area.

Woods Park Most Popular Swim Pool

Woods Park pool, with more than 19,000 paid admissions, proved to be the most popular spot for swimming enthusiasts during June, according to city recreation department statistics.

In all, attendance at city swimming pools totaled 71,374. A total of 1,831 season tickets were sold last month.

Recreation Superintendent Bob Dula's attendance report for June also shows.

— Sixty teams participating in men's softball leagues, with a total of 4,560 participants.

— 1,488 played city recreation baseball.

— 908 Lincolnites participated in senior citizens clubs activity.

— 4 Keen Time dances drew 4,135 and three Nine High dances were attended by 1,865 juniorhigh-age youths.

— During a 2½ week period 54,907 youngsters invaded the city's playgrounds.

— 1,680 lady athletes played city softball and 1,426 received volleyball and golf instructions.

— 1,944 used city tennis courts.

Youth, 21, Injured In 2-Motorcycle, 1-Car Accident

A one-car, two-motorcycle accident at 33rd and O Friday evening resulted in a possible concussion and arm and leg abrasions for Gay A. Mick, 22, of 2614 So. 11th, who was in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital, police said.

The brakes failed on a car driven by Douglas F. Murphy, 21, of 3725 B, who was northbound on 33rd just south of the O St. intersection, police said.

Mick and a companion, Richard A. Anderson, 23, of 2127 Harwood, were riding their lightweight motorcycles east on O, and Mick hit the car as it rolled across the intersection.

Anderson was able to avoid hitting the car by turning his motorcycle on its side, police said.

City-County Bldg. Plans Preliminary

Much work has been done but plans for the City-County building are still in the preliminary stages, according to City Councilman Ervin Peterson.

Peterson, Councilman Lloyd Hinkley and County Commissioners William Grossman and Kenneth Bourne have been working with architects to iron out space allotment problems involved in designing the $5 million structure.

Peterson said the group is "continuing to size up the whole building, but we have hardly more than a rough outline."

He said the committee met with architects last Wednesday and have scheduled another meeting for July 28. Peterson will suggest that the entire council and board of commissioners meet at that time to "make basic decisions."

One decision to be made is what facilities the city and the county will use in common.

Peterson also commented that basic plans for the building have been cleared with the bond attorneys.

. . . Wheat Outlook Improves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska's 1965 corn crop, grown principally in areas more favored in moisture this season was forecast at 59 bushels per acre Friday.

The first U.S. Department of Agriculture forecast on the new corn crop called for a production of 221,014,000 bushels from 3,746,000 acres.

In 1964 the state's corn crop was 52 bushels per acre or 214,032,000 bushels from 4,116,000 acres.

The 1963 crop averaged 56 bushels per acre and the 1962 crop was 60.5 bushels per acre.

The state's winter wheat crop outlook was slightly improved from last month's report. With the harvest now getting under way — pushed by a liberalizing of rains in recent weeks, the state's winter wheat crop was estimated at 66,562,000 bushels, an increase of some four million bushels over the outlook of a month ago.

The per acre yield jumped one bushel per acre from 22 to 23. Nebraska will harvest the crop from 2,894,000 acres. The 1964 wheat crop was 73,825,000 bushels or 25 bushels per acre from 2,953,000 acres. This was considerably better than the 1963 yield of 21.5 bushels per acre and 19.5 bushels harvested in 1962.

The winter wheat outlook has been bleak from the outset with a dry winter and a dry spring until recent weeks, plus unseasonably cool weather which held back the crops in some sections of the state.

For other crops, the Department of Agriculture had this forecast:

Oats: 38 bushels per acre or 27,436,000 bushels from 722,000 acres. A remarkable upturn from the 29.5 bushel-per-acre crop grown in 1964. In 1962 the oats yield was 33 bushels per acre.

Sorghums: 2,566,000 acres for harvest. No forecast of yield or production was made.

Sugar beets: 68,000 acres yielding 15 tons per acre or 1,020,000. This is slightly off the 1964 pace of 16.3 tons per acre or 1,403,000 tons.

Dry beans: 76,000 acres yielding 1,600 pounds per acre of 1,216,000 hundred weight. This compares with 1,550 rounds per acre or 1,116,000 hundred weight in 1964.

U.S. Corn Crop Is Forecast At 3,912,036,000 Bu.

Washington (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Friday forecast a 1965 corn crop of 3,912,036,000 bushels and a wheat crop of 1,353,813,000 bushels.

The first production estimate of the year of the 1965 corn corp compares with last year's output of 3,548,604,000 bushels and the 1959-63 average of 3,817,311,000 bushels.

This is the fifth consecutive year that the corn crop has been grown under a voluntary feed grain reduction program.

The wheat forecast was made up of 1,069,969,000 bushels of winter wheat and 283,844,000 bushels of spring wheat.

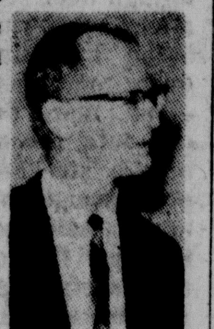
Trenkle Cited For NU Radio, TV Programs



Trenkle

New Brunswick, N.J. — A University of Nebraska staff member Friday, received one of five Pioneer Ace awards given by the American Association of Agricultural College Editors. (AAACE).

Dwain Trenkle, assistant Extension editor in charge of the radio and television section at the NU Department of Information, was cited "for conspicuous contribution to high professional standards of communications in behalf of the Land-Grant College program."

Trenkle represented the North-Central region in receiving the award, which recognizes the accomplishments of men and women in the agricultural and home economics communications field who are not older than 36 years.

A native of Hay Springs, and a graduate of NU, Trenkle has been on the University staff since 1956, except for military leave in 1958 and from 1961-62.

Meanwhile, the AAACE has accepted an invitation by the University of Nebraska to meet at Lincoln in 1967, the Cornhusker state's centennial year.

R. J. Graham, chairman of the university's department of information, who issued the invitation, said the organization would meet in July of 1967 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

A Grant man pleaded innocent Friday in U.S. District Court to thirty-eight counts of conversion of wheat pledged to the Commodity Credit Corporation and violation of the Warehouse Act.

Floyd Stewart, about 60, was charged by a federal grand jury in an indictment filed in Omaha on April 15.

The indictment charges Stewart, employed as manager of the Kellogg Grain Company elevator, with appropriating wheat during early 1964.

Lawrence Due To Bulge At Seams For Diamond Jubilee Celebration

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Lawrence — Company's coming this weekend, probably 10 times the total populace of this Nuckolls County community of 350.

Sons and daughters and grandkids by the dozen will be swarming in for the town's Diamond Jubilee. They'll still find plenty of home-towners and farmers from miles around Saturday and Sunday —and a carnival-lined main street.

"For promotion money we've sold nearly 500 Jubilee Club memberships, some in nearly every state and one in Brazil," said Mrs. H. C. Ostdiek, whose publisher husband is co-chairman with implement dealer Harold Schroer.

"They won't all make it home, of course, but a lot of them will if there's any way possible."

Certain to spark many a convention is the 112-page 75th anniversary book printed in the Ostdieks' plant. Nearly 200 photos ("We put out a plea and oh, they came in!") retrace the town's steps even beyond its 1890 incorporation.

Recalled is the long-gone settlement of Beachamville, succeeded by St. Stephens about 1880. Less than a decade later Lawrence replaced both, 2½ miles north where the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington chose to cross.

St. Stephens was perpetuated in a namesake rural church, however, that is still the center of activity for surrounding farm families. An even larger Sacred Heart—the only church in Lawrence —adds further to a Catholic character in the community that is near-total.

The Lawrence bewhiskered will also be reminiscing of things more recent, for instance the state six-man football championship of 1952 and the eight-man title only seven years later.

The John Beykes, who observed their 60th anniversary May 22 as one of the oldest couples around, will see their wedding-day snapshot in the book — complete to honeymoon horse and buggy.

"Mail carrier LaVern Kohmetscher and his wife spent two weeks gathering information from our old Locomotive files," said Mrs. Ostdiek. E. J. Barrett and Glen Friend, retired postmaster and grocer, helped as much in the compiling as they had in the history-making.

Co-starring with Gov. Frank Morrison in Saturday's 3:30 p.m. parade will be Alois Chvala and Mrs. Dave Pohlmeier, celebration king and queen. A steam threshing exhibition at 1 p.m. will stir oldtimers' memories, and night will bring the first of two street dances.

Sunday afternoon's schedule calls for a firemen's water fight and the appearance at 4 p.m. of Red Cloud's Indian Dancers. And — at 1890 prices of two bits a plate—some 3,000 persons are expected for an evening beef barbecue.

Laurel Crash Claims Life Of Fourth Victim

Sioux City (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Kiekbush, 66, of La Crosse, Wis., died in a Sioux City hospital Friday, fourth victim of a two-car collision on U.S. 20 one mile north of Laurel, Neb. Saturday night.

Her husband, George, also 66, remains in good condition but Keith Rohrke, 15, Wayne, Neb., passenger in a car driven by John Barr, 16, also of Wayne, remains in critical condition.

Mrs. Kiekbush's death brings the Nebraska highway death toll for 1965 to 163 compared with 178 at this time a year ago and raises the Independence Day death toll to 10.

Killed outright in the two-car crash were Janice Sanders, 15, and Karen Jones, 16, of Laurel. Susan Sanders, 16, sister of Janice, died early Sunday.

State Trooper Roy Van Winkle said the Kiekbush car and the car carrying the teenagers collided broadside.

Cooper Named Publisher Of N. Platte Paper

North Platte (AP) — C. H. (George) Cooper has been named publisher and general manager of the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin, succeeding the late Louis A. Kelly, publisher and co-founder.

Kelly died Nov. 23, 1964 after 45 years of continuous association with North Platte newspapers.

James Kirkman has been assigned to duty as the assistant general manager and advertising manager, the announcement said.

The promotion of Cooper was announced by Joe W. Seacrest, president of the North Platte Publishing Co., which publishes the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin. Cooper was associated with Kelly as general manager for 18 years and with Seacrest for more than 20 years.

Two Hospitalized After Collision

Cars driven by Sheldon M. Spencer Jr., 24, of 1400 No. 33rd and Henry G. Dobler, 47, of Oak Park, Ill., collided Friday evening at 24th and P, hospitalizing two people, police said.

The Spencer car was eastbound on P, and his wife, Janine, 22, was a passenger. Spencer was held and listed in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital with cuts and bruises.

A passenger in the Dobler car, southbound on 24th, his wife, Esther C., 47, was held at the hospital complaining of neck, back and wrist pains and listed in good condition.

Dobler was treated for neck pains, and released, as was Mrs. Spencer, who suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Report Says McDonald's Death Suicide

Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—A special investigator said Friday his final report calls the mysterious death of Eugene (Stormy) McDonald III, wealthy young heir, a suicide.

The body of McDonald, 23, heir to a Zenith Radio Corp. fortune, was found in his rented home here Feb. 3. There was a bullet wound in the back of his head.

McDonald formerly attended the University of Omaha where he became a close friend of actor Peter Fonda, also student at the university. After McDonald's death, Fonda described him as "my closest friend."

A 17-page report issued by Jack Lyon, a Pima County sheriff's investigator, supported the contention of the sheriff's office that McDonald killed himself.

A coroner's jury ruled that McDonald died as a result of a gunshot wound in the presence of person or persons unknown. Justice of the Peace Toby LaVetter has stated publicly that he disagreed with the jury's verdict.

LaVetter said he hasn't finished reading the Lyon report but added "at this stage I don't envisage any particular action to be taken on the matter."

McCook Wheat Yields Run From 20 To 30 Bu.

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

McCook — Yields of 20 to 30 bushel per acre have been widely reported in this area with a few reports of yields up to 40 bushels per acre, according to grain elevators and the Red Willow county extension office.

Combining began in this area in competition with numerous showers that have handicapped farmers in moving wheat from the fields.

Bill Egen, a State Labor Department representative, at a combine check point here said there has been a surplus of manpower but a shortage of combines interested in smaller jobs.

"Many of the combines coming through the state are reluctant to stop for jobs under 150 acres and prefer to move on and catch up with the harvest just starting further north," said Egan.

While near 200 combines moved through the state combine check point here the first four days of the week, the big rush of transient combines was expected this weekend, according to George Berver, of the State Weed and Seed Division, who is checking the combines at the entry point.

Grain elevator spokesmen reported that some test weights had been reduced by the rains and weedy fields but that several days of favorable weather would be beneficial in wrapping up the harvest in the area.

Woods Park Most Popular Swim Pool

Woods Park pool, with more than 19,000 paid admissions, proved to be the most popular spot for swimming enthusiasts during June, according to city recreation department statistics.

In all, attendance at city swimming pools totaled 71,374. A total of 1,831 season tickets were sold last month.

Recreation Superintendent Bob Dula's attendance report for June also shows:

— Sixty teams participating in men's softball leagues, with a total of 4,560 participants.

— 1,488 played city recreation baseball.

— 908 Lincolnites participated in senior citizens clubs activity.

— 4 Keen Time dances drew 4,135 and three Nine High dances were attended by 1,865 juniorhigh-age youths.

— During a 2½ week period 54,907 youngsters invaded the city's playgrounds.

— 1,680 lady athletes played city softball and 1,426 received volleyball and golf instructions.

— 1,944 used city tennis courts.

Youth, 21, Injured In 2-Motorcycle, 1-Car Accident

A one-car, two-motorcycle accident at 33rd and O Friday evening resulted in a possible concussion and arm and leg abrasions for Gay A. Mick, 22, of 2614 So. 11th, who was in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital, police said.

The brakes failed on a car driven by Douglas F. Murphy, 21, of 3725 B, who was northbound on 33rd just south of the O St. intersection, police said.

Mick and a companion, Richard A. Anderson, 23, of 2127 Harwood, were riding their lightweight motorcycles east on O, and Mick hit the car as it rolled across the intersection.

Anderson was able to avoid hitting the car by turning his motorcycle on its side, police said.

City-County Bldg. Plans Preliminary

Much work has been done but plans for the City-County building are still in the preliminary stages, according to City Councilman Ervin Peterson.

Peterson, Councilman Lloyd Hinkley and County Commissioners William Grossman and Kenneth Bourne have been working with architects to iron out space allotment problems involved in designing the $5 million structure.

Peterson said the group is "continuing to size up the whole building, but we have hardly more than a rough outline."

He said the committee met with architects last Wednesday and have scheduled another meeting for July 28. Peterson will suggest that the entire council and board of commissioners meet at that time to "make basic decisions."

One decision to be made is what facilities the city and the county will use in common.

Peterson also commented that basic plans for the building have been cleared with the bond attorneys.

State Government Not Lavish

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Statistics can be not only boring, but most deceiving. The problem is not that two and two make four one time and six another, as is commonly implied. A set number of figures do not change in their value or meaning. Two people cannot take the same figures and make them look entirely different in most cases. The differences are found in what you use and don't use.

Payroll And Services

Thus, a series of articles appearing this past week in The Star in regard to state employment are not presented as gospel. The objective of the series was to relate the growing state payroll to expanding state services, to match people with programs. The growth of the state payroll has been widely criticized in areas throughout the state. The figures are used by some in an effort to present the state as a bureaucracy for which the taxpayer is constantly asked to cough up more money. The idea is sold that if we only stopped hiring so many people, we would save great sums of money.

There are some obvious truths there but some errors of omission—omissions as to the work of these people that The Star tried to supply in its series. The series was an effort to get away from the bureaucracy idea and down to the merits of what the state is doing.

The question for the people of Nebraska is not just for or against the increase in personnel. To intelligently decide on the validity of payroll expenditures, one must know something of the work and responsibility of the people involved. They must know, not just what a man is being paid, but what it is he is doing.

The series did show that payroll has not been the dominant factor in state spending that you might think from looking at payroll alone. While spending at the state level has gone up three and one-half times from 1950 through 1964, payroll costs have gone up only two and three-fourths times. The number of state employes has increased only by one-third. Also significant is the fact that from 1950 through 1964, state expenditures have gone up four times while the tax levy has only doubled. This is the result of three things—a growth in population which provided more people to share in taxation, an increase in valuations and an increase in federal aid funds.

Actually, the state in total compares very favorably when it comes to spending. Figures from The Congressional Quarterly were quoted in the series showing Nebraska's state tax revenue from all sources as the least of any state in proportion to per capita income. Perhaps there are other figures which show Nebraska in a less favorable light but our standing among the states would seem to mark us as a frugal member of the Union. The Star series did point out that employes or payroll has not been a dominant factor in the rising cost of state government. Nebraska is not hiring a lot of people just for the heck of it. State departments, agencies and institutions are not building empires with the accumulation of large staffs that are a needless burden upon the taxpayer.

The series gave some detailed discussion of various state operations to show the relationship that exists between number of employes and state services. The University of Nebraska for instance, showed a 41 percent increase in personnel from 1950 through 1964. But enrollment at the university climbed by 50 percent for the same period.

Thus, more students are being served today per employe than was the case nearly 15 years ago. There is greater efficiency within the university than was the case in 1950, despite the fact that it is a larger and more costly operation. This does not prove that no personnel cuts could be made by the university but it certainly indicates that cuts in personnel would mean a reduction in services.

We Get What We Pay For

The taxpayer who would want to reduce personnel in this area should consider whether he wants, also, a little poorer educational program. In the Department of Roads, highway construction costs or expenditures have gone up four times in the last decade and a half while the payroll has only doubled. To cut personnel here would mean a slowdown in the preparation of plans and specifications for construction, a slower pace of right-of-way acquisition and a net curtailment of state spending on road and highway work.

People who want the payroll cut here should know that it involves, too, fewer improved roads to travel. In terms of total spending, of services rendered, the state has fewer people today than it had 15 years ago. Could it have still fewer? Perhaps so but it would seem most doubtful. Signs are that the state, in general, has grown efficiently to meet the needs and demands of an expanding population and much more diversified society.

The Peace Corps Idea

It was only a few years ago that the late President J. F. Kennedy suggested a Peace Corps and it brought a laugh from many.

A great many did not believe the movement would get off the ground for the reasons that the young people had little to offer and would not be inclined to "throw away" two more years of their lives.

Yet, surprisingly enough, the Peace Corps quickly became the political discovery of the time. It was successful both in organizing at home and in its work in the depressed countries. Now most of the advanced nations are forming such corps.

Recently United Nations General Secretary U Thant urged the young of all countries to get into the movement. He said, "I am looking forward to the time when the average youngster, parent or employer, will consider that one or two years of work for the cause of development either in a faraway country or in a depressed area of his own country, is a normal part of one's education.

Such a thing could work a profound political change in the entire country. Youth is idealistic and needs a way to work it off. It has never had its say in American politics for that is dominated by older people. Moreover, in going into the field youth will develop a practical experience that will pay off well in later years.

The weakness of our democratic system is that, beyond voting occasionally, it has offered little practical application to the greater number of our citizens. We do not get enough real experience in the field and actually learn to live most of the time without it. This is something that should be changed.

End Of Project Camelot

Project Camelot has been abandoned by the Defense Department.

It was the Department's effort to move into backward countries where we were not engaged and to study, from both a military and philosophical point of view, why their revolutions and wars begin.

The project was an ill-disguised intrusion into the area of the State Department. Its first effort—in Chile—got into a good deal of trouble and it was probably that instead of a sense of intrusion that caused the Defense Department to quit.

The whole thing leaves a bad taste and in it is a warning.

The CIA, not the State Department, was the active figure in the ill-fated Bay of Pigs effort against Castro. This latest project placed the Defense Department in the key role. We may as well make up our minds that every ambitious department in Washington cannot run our wars. And we are reminded that the Defense Department seems to have more say in Viet Nam than the State Department.

Now if the State Department is not competent to meet the hard demands of the present, the thing to do is to repair it. It is not the thing to do to let every restless head in Washington have a crack at getting us into trouble in a special way.

Our long practice of naming ambassadors who are political fat cats might have been innocuous 50 years ago, but not today. Such fellows seldom have the feel for public affairs and their tours of duty are largely a vacation with status attached. And there have been a good many instances where such ambassadors have been the last to know of difficulties in their area of assignment. They were hitting the cocktail circuit instead of learning their business. But this is not a matter for the Defense Department to correct. It is an administrative problem.

Happy Birthday

From the Washington Post

On July 1, 1867, the British North America Act united the provinces which now form the Dominion of Canada. This, on Canada's 98th birthday, is a good occasion for the United States to voice its congratulations and acknowledge its good fortune in its northern neighbor.

Not only are the two nations' birthdays near, so are the two peoples. Canadian English is indistinguishable from American English. The two peoples share the same pioneering gusto, the same delight in wide-open space. The unpoliced mutual frontier—and it is a long one—is a model for neighborly coexistence.

Since the United States is greater in numbered years, in population, and in developed resources there long has been a tendency to just assume that nice northernly neighbor is up there without thinking much more of it.

The Canadians, like any people proud of their sovereignty, don't like being taken for granted and don't relish being condemned to living in the United States's shadow.

When they are gifted with outstanding statesmen, as is the case with the current Prime Minister, Lester Pearson, Canada is able to take soundings in such ticklish areas as Viet-Nam and help this country in its quest for a someday solution to its Southeast Asian troubles.

All in all, it's good to be reminded of that friendly, soft-spoken northern neighbor. Congratulations, on your birthday, Canada, and may you have many more.

Nation's Water Badly Polluted

WASHINGTON — Ironically, one important part of the Great Society program, cleaning up American waterways, got a boost when a congressman was tragically killed in Fourth of July accident on a North Carolina throughway.

He was Rep. T. Ashton Thompson, D-La., who had many fine qualities. In the opinion of the big chemical companies, however, one of his finest was his opposition to cleaning up water pollution.

In Thompson's district are located giant Olin Mathieson Chemical Company and Hercules powder plants. Because of them, and the opposition of other chemical and paper mills, the congressman, a key member of the House Public Works committee, had managed to sidetrack the water pollution bill passed by the Senate on Jan. 29 and the bill passed by the House April 28.

His tactics, involved states rights. The Senate bill introduced by Sen. Ed Muskie, D-Me., gives the secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare the power to set up standards for the quality of water in each watershed in the nation.

This provision of the Senate bill was so vigorously opposed by the paper and steel mills, and the big chemical plants, long using American waterways as a dumping ground, that they pressured the House of Representatives into passing a bill giving the 50 individual states the power to set quality standards within each state.

In contrast, the Senate bill provided that quality standards for all waterways should be fixed by the federal government.

While Congressman Thompson continued to block the Senate version of the pollution bill, the lakes and rivers of the United States this summer have become increasingly polluted.

Pollution in Lake Erie has reached such a critical stage that one-fourth of the lake has been devoid of oxygen and unfit for aquatic or human life. So much waste has been dumped into Lake Erie from Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Erie and Buffalo, that the percentage of chlorides is 230 per cent higher today than in 1900.

"The water also shows an amazing concentration of calcium, sodium, potassium and sulphate compound," says Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., an early battler against water pollution.

Meanwhile Lake Michigan is turning into a cesspool, as a result of three steel plants, three oil refineries, and sewage from Milwaukee, Green Bay, and the Chicago area. A study of the pollution of the lake bottom in this area shows that the situation is practically irreversible. No matter what standards may be set for the quality of water in the future, the situation cannot be changed.

President Has New Press Secretary

WASHINGTON — President Johnson constantly stresses his intention to give qualified women a share of the best jobs in the government. This week he had a top-level vacancy in the White House and a woman brilliantly qualified to fill it right under his nose. The job went to a man who quickly said: "I am new to this work."

It cannot have escaped the President's attention amid his own press troubles that Mrs. Johnson is enjoying splendid notices. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Carpenter, press secretary and staff director to Mrs. Johnson, the distaff side of the White House is a happy ship.

This atmosphere is carried into Mrs. Johnson's travels and her many and various activities. It is starting to be reflected in a broad public awareness and approval of her role. She has probably more new friends and fewer critics than any President's wife in recent history.

Mrs. Carpenter is an experienced reporter who has pride in her new trade but has not lost faith in the old. She combines loyalty and responsibility to the Johnsons with respect for the fact that reporters, by the nature of their profession, are required to worship other gods.

An expert technician, she also tries to smooth the rough edges of their often difficult working conditions and communications problems. This is an art more honored in the breach than in the observance since James C. Hagerty ran the press office for President Eisenhower.

The new White House press secretary, Bill D. Moyers, cannot be evaluated in a press role because he has never been seen in it. He is believed to be very close to the President and even occasionally to be able to persuade him against his will. Moyers has been with the Peace Corps, the most idealistic aspect of the Great Society, and has worked hard on its practical side, legislation.

It is the day-by-day relationship in the White House between the reporters who frequent it and the press secretary which develops the basic understanding of what the President is up to. It was not a happy relationship under George Reedy, now departing because of ill health, which was not altogether the fault of the participants.

The President sought to dominate it by all kinds of remote control. Reedy did not oppose him, but reporters did.

The big unanswered question is not Moyers. It is whether the President wants to improve his relations with the press and is so signalling to his critics. If so, Moyers could probably do it, though he will certainly need some well-trained help.

Perhaps the President has other ideas about his present problem with his image at home and abroad. All presidents have a suppressed desire to be a managing editor. Johnson does and, in addition, wants to be the publisher, giving and withholding rewards and punishments.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Legislative proponents of a state income tax are taking a fresh look at two bills which would broaden the intangible property tax base.

Walton

For two reasons.

What they want most of all is a clear choice for Nebraska voters if and when they mark their ballots on the tax issue next year.

Income tax backers also want leaders in the income tax referendum drive to see that they too may have a choice to make.

Now, the choice on the general election ballot will be stated in simple terms: Do you want a state income tax, or not? Yes or no.

A simple choice, it is. But it is too simple to be accurate. For the question on the ballot will not convey to the voter the breadth of his choice.

It is a choice between a state income tax and higher state property taxes, or perhaps a general sales tax. It involves the issue of tax equity. And it has a lot to do with future state spending, and progress. It raises a tough question: Where else would the state turn for public dollars?

What seems to disturb legislative supporters of the income tax most is that the referendum issue will not clearly present all of these choices to the electorate. A simple yes-or-no decision on the income tax is likely to be no, but so would a simple yes-or-no decision on the state property tax or a sales tax likelyto be negative. But the latter two issues will not be on the ballot.

So, No. 1 problem is carrying to the people the full burden of their choice.

Problem No. 2: presenting a choice to the leaders in the referendum drive.

Terry Carpenter has made it clear that he will campaign against the income tax once it were placed on the ballot, but he has been careful to distinguish that role from the task of leadership in placing the issue on the ballot. That, he has said, is an assignment which should be undertaken by others.

And so it has been: two prominent and extremely able Omahans have stepped forward, one a vice president of the Omaha National Bank, the other president of Herman Brothers, Inc. Omaha National has agreed to serve as depository for campaign funds.

Another Omahan, Sen. Clifton Batchelder, has offered the services of the United States Check Book Company — of which he is president — to print petitions without cost.

So, clearly, we believe, it may be said that the referendum drive is Omaha-based and, clearly, we think, it may be said that it is being guided by substantial business interests. And there is nothing at all wrong with that.

Now, resting on general file in the Legislature, are two bills which some legislative proponents of the income tax believe might serve as a vehicle to place this matter of choice more positively before the referendum leaders.

These bills together (and with amendments proposed by Terry Carpenter, their sponsor) would broaden the intangible property tax base by removing deductions which now exempt from taxation stock held in domestic and foreign domesticated corporations.

They would (with amendments) levy the four mill Class B tax against such stock and raise, according to Carpenter, an additional $15 million annually for the support of state government.

A heavy percentage of Nebraska's intangible property is held in Omaha (nearly 43% of all taxable intangible wealth in Nebraska is contained in Douglas County), and a hefty share of the corporations which would be affected by spreading the burden are sited in Omaha.

Intangible tax revenue is now divided among the state, the counties, the cities and the school districts. What these bills (with amendments) would do would be to assign all the additional revenue from domestic and foreign domesticated stock to the state.

Now, if the income tax becomes effective in 1967, the state must abandon the intangible property tax field in order to abide by its constitution. A companion bill to the income tax measure would assign the state's current share of the tax revenue to the counties.

But, the new levy on domestic and foreign domesticated stock would be strictly a state tax, according to amendments prepared by Carpenter. And, thus, it would be automatically kayoed if the income tax became effective in 1967. But, it would remain in effect if the income tax failed on the 1966 ballot.

The new choice for referendum sponsors: a state income tax, or a broadened intangible property tax.

There may be legal or constitutional problems involved in such a plan. But, for now, it is receiving new scrutiny from some income tax proponents.

A number of substantial Omaha and Lincoln business interests have already made it clear that if there is to be a choice, the alternative which they prefer is a general sales tax. Understandably.

The two intangible property tax bills (LB30 and LB78) face tough sledding in the Unicameral under any circumstances. Some senators —including supporters of the income tax—wouldn't touch them with a 10-foot pole.

When you talk about taxing stock in domestic and foreign domesticated corporations, you run up against major business interests in every community in the state —and, more than that, you run into thousands of Nebraska stockholders, intelligent enough to know where to put their money in order to enjoy financial gain and escape state taxes, and aggressive enough to defend their tax advantage.

When debate begins, warnings of crippled industrial development and stunted economic growth will be raised.

And, after all is said and done, those two bills may not get very far—but they are attracting new interest in the wake of the referendum movement which is building in Omaha.

Trans-Oceanic Travel Comes Of Age

ORBETELLO, Italy — Man's first full-scaled mastery of the Atlantic by air transport began here just 32 years ago.

True, the ocean had been flown previously by Alcock and Brown, a couple of Zeppelins, by Commander Read, Lindbergh and a few other wing-and-a-prayer daredevils. But early in July, 1933, 24 hydroplanes carrying 100 Italian airmen took off from this naval base and flew to Chicago. It was a feat that rocked the world as would some massive space spectacular today.

The mass flight to the Chicago World's Fair and subsequently to New York was led by Gen. Italo Balbo, bearded and romantic national hero.

The trim, twin-hulled Savoia 55-X's accomplished the well-organized trip to their landing place on Lake Michigan in 13 days. They stopped for fuel, provisions and a look at the sketchy weather reports at Amsterdam, Londonderry, Reykjavik, Cartwright (Labrador), Shediac (New Brunswick), and Montreal en route.

They had flown to America on orders from Mussolini to express the "New Italy's" warm friendship and Il Duce's personal affection for the American people, Balbo told cheering throngs. On the steps of City Hall, New York's Mayor John P. O'Brien climaxed a ticker-tape welcome by asserting, "Your names are coupled with Columbus and Marconi. What you have accomplished with your machines will prevent the possibility of future world wars, make everybody brothers."

The crystal ball of an editorial writer for the N.Y. Times was a bit clearer than Hizzoner's. He wrote, "It was a magnificent experiment. It foreshadows in the not very distant future regular airline travel across the Atlantic."

I have long since lost count of my trans-Atlantic flights, but this most recent one perhaps best expressed to me the coming-of-age of such travel. For a change, I flew this time by Iberia, the Spanish airline. It promises to make as much of an imprint on travel over the Atlantic as Spain's galleons once achieved on its surface.

Iberia's prime airfleet named after Spanish art masters, is made up of new DC-8's powered by fanjets. For all the vision of the pioneers of ocean flying, none could scarcely conceive of this American-built carrier.

The four engines on our gracefully swept wing developed more power than all 48 Isotta Fraschini V-18 engines used to propel Balbo and his men to their American destinations. Inside our cabin there was comfort, fine foods and wines, service galore. Far below and fore and aft were sea and land stations keeping the crew fully informed. The twin-engined Savoias, with one pusher and one puller propellor, cruised at 140. The DC-8 we rode the other night carried 132 passengers and crew at an effortless 600 MPH.

There's a pleasant note of Latin fervor that atttends the departure of an Iberia flight. The company's waiting rooms at Kennedy International Airport are crowded with passengers and scores of well-wishers. All talk at once. The volume reaches its crescendo when the announcement is made to board the waiting jet.

Well-wishers rush to the observation deck to prolong the farewells. Waves and kisses are thrown from plane steps. Handkerchiefs flutter at the windows as the plane moves away as majestically as an armored knight riding the fabled road from the Pyrenees to Santiago de Compostela.

State Government Not Lavish

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Statistics can be not only boring, but most deceiving. The problem is not that two and two make four one time and six another, as is commonly implied. A set number of figures do not change in their value or meaning. Two people cannot take the same figures and make them look entirely different in most cases. The differences are found in what you use and don't use.

Payroll And Services

Thus, a series of articles appearing this past week in The Star in regard to state employment are not presented as gospel. The objective of the series was to relate the growing state payroll to expanding state services, to match people with programs. The growth of the state payroll has been widely criticized in areas throughout the state. The figures are used by some in an effort to present the state as a bureaucracy for which the taxpayer is constantly asked to cough up more money. The idea is sold that if we only stopped hiring so many people, we would save great sums of money.

There are some obvious truths there but some errors of omission—omissions as to the work of these people that The Star tried to supply in its series. The series was an effort to get away from the bureaucracy idea and down to the merits of what the state is doing.

The question for the people of Nebraska is not just for or against the increase in personnel. To intelligently decide on the validity of payroll expenditures, one must know something of the work and responsibility of the people involved. They must know, not just what a man is being paid, but what it is he is doing.

The series did show that payroll has not been the dominant factor in state spending that you might think from looking at payroll alone. While spending at the state level has gone up three and one-half times from 1950 through 1964, payroll costs have gone up only two and three-fourths times. Nation's Water Badly Polluted

WASHINGTON — Ironically, one important part of the Great Society program, cleaning up American waterways, got a boost when a congressman was tragically killed in Fourth of July accident on a North Carolina throughway.

He was Rep. T. Ashton Thompson, D-La., who had many fine qualities. In the opinion of the big chemical companies, however, one of his finest was his opposition to cleaning up water pollution.

In Thompson's district are located giant Olin Mathieson Chemical Company and Hercules powder plants. Because of them, and the opposition of other chemical and paper mills, the congressman, a key member of the House Public Works committee, had managed to sidetrack the water pollution bill passed by the Senate on Jan. 29 and the bill passed by the House April 28.

His tactics, involved states rights. The Senate bill introduced by Sen. Ed Muskie, D-Me., gives the secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare the power to set up standards for the quality of water in each watershed in the nation.

This provision of the Senate bill was so vigorously opposed by the paper and steel mills, and the big chemical plants, long using American waterways as a dumping ground, that they pressured the House of Representatives into passing a bill giving the 50 individual states the power to set quality standards within each state.

In contrast, the Senate bill provided that quality standards for all waterways should be fixed by the federal government.

While Congressman Thompson continued to block the Senate version of the pollution bill, the lakes and rivers of the United States this summer have become increasingly polluted.

Pollution in Lake Erie has reached such a critical stage that one-fourth of the lake has been devoid of oxygen and unfit for aquatic or human life. So much waste has been dumped into Lake Erie from Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Erie and Buffalo, that the percentage of chlorides is 230 per cent higher today than in 1900.

"The water also shows an amazing concentration of calcium, sodium, potassium and sulphate compound," says Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., an early battler against water pollution.

Meanwhile Lake Michigan is turning into a cesspool, as a result of three steel plants, three oil refineries, and sewage from Milwaukee, Green Bay, and the Chicago area. A study of the pollution of the lake bottom in this area shows that the situation is practically irreversible. No matter what standards may be set for the quality of water in the future, the situation cannot be changed.

President Has New Press Secretary

WASHINGTON — President Johnson constantly stresses his intention to give qualified women a share of the best jobs in the government. This week he had a top-level vacancy in the White House and a woman brilliantly qualified to fill it right under his nose. The job went to a man who quickly said: "I am new to this work."

It cannot have escaped the President's attention amid his own press troubles that Mrs. Johnson is enjoying splendid notices. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Carpenter, press secretary and staff director to Mrs. Johnson, the distaff side of the White House is a happy ship.

This atmosphere is carried into Mrs. Johnson's travels and her many and various activities. It is starting to be reflected in a broad public awareness and approval of her role. She has probably more new friends and fewer critics than any President's wife in recent history.

Mrs. Carpenter is an experienced reporter who has pride in her new trade but has not lost faith in the old. She combines loyalty and responsibility to the Johnsons with respect for the fact that reporters, by the nature of their profession, are required to worship other gods.

An expert technician, she also tries to smooth the rough edges of their often difficult working conditions and communications problems. This is an art more honored in the breach than in the observance since James C. Hagerty ran the press office for President Eisenhower.

The new White House press secretary, Bill D. Moyers, cannot be evaluated in a press role because he has never been seen in it. He is believed to be very close to the President and even occasionally to be able to persuade him against his will. Moyers has been with the Peace Corps, the most idealistic aspect of the Great Society, and has worked hard on its practical side, legislation.

It is the day-by-day relationship in the White House between the reporters who frequent it and the press secretary which develops the basic understanding of what the President is up to. It was not a happy relationship under George Reedy, now departing because of ill health, which was not altogether the fault of the participants.

The President sought to dominate it by all kinds of remote control. Reedy did not oppose him, but reporters did.

The big unanswered question is not Moyers. It is whether the President wants to improve his relations with the press and is so signalling to his critics. If so, Moyers could probably do it, though he will certainly need some well-trained help.

Perhaps the President has other ideas about his present problem with his image at home and abroad. All presidents have a suppressed desire to be a managing editor. Johnson does and, in addition, wants to be the publisher, giving and withholding rewards and punishments.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Walton

Legislative proponents of a state income tax are taking a fresh look at two bills which would broaden the intangible property tax base.

For two reasons.

What they want most of all is a clear choice for Nebraska voters if and when they mark their ballots on the tax issue next year.

Income tax backers also want leaders in the income tax referendum drive to see that they too may have a choice to make.

Now, the choice on the general election ballot will be stated in simple terms: Do you want a state income tax, or not? Yes or no.

A simple choice, it is. But it is too simple to be accurate. For the question on the ballot will not convey to the voter the breadth of his choice.

It is a choice between a state income tax and higher state property taxes, or perhaps a general sales tax. It involves the issue of tax equity. And it has a lot to do with future state spending, and progress. It raises a tough question: Where else would the state turn for public dollars?

What seems to disturb legislative supporters of the income tax most is that the referendum issue will not clearly present all of these choices to the electorate. A simple yes-or-no decision on the income tax is likely to be no, but so would a simple yes-or-no decision on the state property tax or a sales tax likelyto be negative. But the latter two issues will not be on the ballot.

So, No. 1 problem is carrying to the people the full burden of their choice.

Problem No. 2: presenting a choice to the leaders in the referendum drive.

Terry Carpenter has made it clear that he will campaign against the income tax once it were placed on the ballot, but he has been careful to distinguish that role from the task of leadership in placing the issue on the ballot. That, he has said, is an assignment which should be undertaken by others.

And so it has been: two prominent and extremely able Omahans have stepped forward, one a vice president of the Omaha National Bank, the other president of Herman Brothers, Inc. Omaha National has agreed to serve as depository for campaign funds.

Another Omahan, Sen. Clifton Batchelder, has offered the services of the United States Check Book Company — of which he is president — to print petitions without cost.

So, clearly, we believe, it may be said that the referendum drive is Omaha-based and, clearly, we think, it may be said that it is being guided by substantial business interests. And there is nothing at all wrong with that.

Now, resting on general file in the Legislature, are two bills which some legislative proponents of the income tax believe might serve as a vehicle to place this matter of choice more positively before the referendum leaders.

These bills together (and with amendments proposed by Terry Carpenter, their sponsor) would broaden the intangible property tax base by removing deductions which now exempt from taxation stock held in domestic and foreign domesticated corporations.

They would (with amendments) levy the four mill Class B tax against such stock and raise, according to Carpenter, an additional $15 million annually for the support of state government.

A heavy percentage of Nebraska's intangible property is held in Omaha (nearly 43% of all taxable intangible wealth in Nebraska is contained in Douglas County), and a hefty share of the corporations which would be affected by spreading the burden are sited in Omaha.

Intangible tax revenue is now divided among the state, the counties, the cities and the school districts. What these bills (with amendments) would do would be to assign all the additional revenue from domestic and foreign domesticated stock to the state.

Now, if the income tax becomes effective in 1967, the state must abandon the intangible property tax field in order to abide by its constitution. A companion bill to the income tax measure would assign the state's current share of the tax revenue to the counties.

But, the new levy on domestic and foreign domesticated stock would be strictly a state tax, according to amendments prepared by Carpenter. And, thus, it would be automatically kayoed if the income tax became effective in 1967. But, it would remain in effect if the income tax failed on the 1966 ballot.

The new choice for referendum sponsors: a state income tax, or a broadened intangible property tax.

There may be legal or constitutional problems involved in such a plan. But, for now, it is receiving new scrutiny from some income tax proponents.

A number of substantial Omaha and Lincoln business interests have already made it clear that if there is to be a choice, the alternative which they prefer is a general sales tax. Understandably.

The two intangible property tax bills (LB30 and LB78) face tough sledding in the Unicameral under any circumstances. Some senators—including supporters of the income tax—wouldn't touch them with a 10-foot pole.

When you talk about taxing stock in domestic and foreign domesticated corporations, you run up against major business interests in every community in the state—and, more than that, you run into thousands of Nebraska stockholders, intelligent enough to know where to put their money in order to enjoy financial gain and escape state taxes, and aggressive enough to defend their tax advantage.

When debate begins, warnings of crippled industrial development and stunted economic growth will be raised.

And, after all is said and done, those two bills may not get very far—but they are attracting new interest in the wake of the referendum movement which is building in Omaha.

Trans-Oceanic Travel Comes Of Age

ORBETELLO, Italy — Man's first full-scaled mastery of the Atlantic by air transport began here just 32 years ago.

True, the ocean had been flown previously by Alcock and Brown, a couple of Zeppelins, by Commander Read, Lindbergh and a few other wing-and-a-prayer daredevils. But early in July, 1933, 24 hydroplanes carrying 100 Italian airmen took off from this naval base and flew to Chicago. It was a feat that rocked the world as would some massive space spectacular today.

The mass flight to the Chicago World's Fair and subsequently to New York was led by Gen. Italo Balbo, bearded and romantic national hero.

The trim, twin-hulled Savoia 55-X's accomplished the well-organized trip to their landing place on Lake Michigan in 13 days. They stopped for fuel, provisions and a look at the sketchy weather reports at Amsterdam, Londonderry, Reykjavik, Cartwright (Labrador), Shediac (New Brunswick), and Montreal en route.

They had flown to America on orders from Mussolini to express the "New Italy's" warm friendship and Il Duce's personal affection for the American people, Balbo told cheering throngs. On the steps of City Hall, New York's Mayor John P. O'Brien climaxed a tickertape welcome by asserting, "Your names are coupled with Columbus and Marconi. What you have accomplished with your machines will prevent the possibility of future world wars, make everybody brothers."

The crystal ball of an editorial writer for the N.Y. Times was a bit clearer than Hizzoner's. He wrote, "It was a magnificent experiment. It foreshadows in the not very distant future regular airline travel across the Atlantic."

I have long since lost count of my trans-Atlantic flights, but this most recent one perhaps best expressed to me the coming-of-age of such travel. For a change, I flew this time by Iberia, the Spanish airline. It promises to make as much of an imprint on travel over the Atlantic as Spain's galleons once achieved on its surface.

Iberia's prime airfleet named after Spanish art masters, is made up of new DC-8's powered by fanjets. For all the vision of the pioneers of ocean flying, none could scarcely conceive of this American-built carrier.

The four engines on our gracefully swept wing developed more power than all 48 Isotta Fraschini V-18 engines used to propel Balbo and his men to their American destinations. Inside our cabin there was comfort, fine foods and wines, service galore. Far below and fore and aft were sea and land stations keeping the crew fully informed. The twin-engined Savoias, with one pusher and one puller propellor, cruised at 140. The DC-8 we rode the other night carried 132 passengers and crew at an effortless 600 MPH.

There's a pleasant note of Latin fervor that atttends the departure of an Iberia flight. The company's waiting rooms at Kennedy International Airport are crowded with passengers and scores of well-wishers. All talk at once. The volume reaches its crescendo when the announcement is made to board the waiting jet.

Well-wishers rush to the observation deck to prolong the farewells. Waves and kisses are thrown from plane steps. Handkerchiefs flutter at the windows as the plane moves away as majestically as an armored knight riding the fabled road from the Pyrenees to Santiago de Compostela.

Jackie Gleason Illusion Discomfiting To Others

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "What do you do with an ex-plumber who thinks he's the new Jackie Gleason? Now that my husband has retired he's strung together some corny jokes and pesters clubs to let him put on his act. It goes over like a lead balloon and I'm embarrassed to death."

A. If his act is really bad, he'll catch on soon enough. Instead of being critical, why not coach him and see if you can't help him develop some poise, and polish as a comedian. After seeing some of the characters who pass for comedians on television, it shouldn't be too hard for an alert oldster to develop a line of patter equally as good.

Q. "What do you do about old friends who become estranged? I've had a college chum as my best friend 42 years, but she walked out in a huff two weeks ago just because I said she was dowdy. It was the truth and someone had to tell her. I've tried telephoning, but she just hangs up."

A. Give her some more time to cool off. Next time you see her she'll probably still be peeved but her appearance will likely be improved. Swallow your pride when you see her and take all the blame for the breakup. If she has any character she'll forgive you and start admitting you were right.

Q. "I'm 72, an ex-school principal, and reasonably healthy. I lost my wife last year and here I sit — completely alone. I've tried going to local golden age clubs but feel nothing in common with the folks there. There must be people my age with more scholarly interests, but how do you find them?"

A. Utilize one of those clubs to your own ends. Offer to make for them a list of names, addresses and phone numbers of all folks past 65 in the area. In the course of making the canvass you can decide which of the people you meet seem to offer intellectual response, and you can then take steps to become better acquainted with them.

Q. "I'm a retired barber 72. Just to keep busy I put a sign in the window offering haircuts at 50c. I'd no sooner picked up a few customers than a goon from the barber's union came and said I'd have to rejoin the union and start charging the prevailing two bucks or I'd be in trouble. What can I do?"

A. You'll probably have to go along with him, unless you feel up to fighting. It's my personal belief that unions should look the other way when old folks ply their trades and try to pick up a little money offering cut-rate services.

Q. "Do any universities or colleges hold an annual seminar or conference on the subject of aging and retirement? I've been made head of our local senior citizen program and need to expand my knowledge."

A. Yes, the University of Michigan offers an annual three-day conference on aging to be held this year starting July 26. For information, write to Dr. Wilma Donahue, Division on Gerontology, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

If you would like a booklet "Let's Take up Weaving" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents to cover handling costs.

After 2 Years In Red, Road Dept. On Sound Dollar Footing

The State Department of Roads, after operating in the red for two straight years, is on sound financial footing again.

The department's chief fiscal officer, George Welty, reported Friday that the department should have about $3 million in cash balances on hand at the end of this month, thus assuring contractors they will be paid promptly for highway projects.

"We're momentarily in pretty good shape," noted State Engineer John Hossack "but we're certainly not real rich and there's no telling what the situation will be later this year."

Serious

The department's financial condition got so serious last year that the 1965-67 spending program was cut back by more than $5 million so the department could get out of the red. At one time, the department had not paid several million dollars in past-due highway contracts.

Hossack said the department many times lets contracts for projects on the basis of anticipated revenue collections, but projects were being completed so quickly that the department found it was unable to keep up with the spending pace it had set.

The department's financial posture has now become more sound because of the reduction in the building program and the seasonal reduction in road work, according to Welty.

Opposite

"Income always exceeds expenditures in the first half of the year," he said, "and it's just the opposite during the second half."

He said the department will continue to operate on a right financial schedule so funds can be converted into new and improved highways as quickly as possible.

High Court Strikes Tax Report Law

The State Supreme Court Friday struck down as unconstitutional a 1961 law providing penalties for improperly reporting intangible property for tax purposes.

The court upheld the ruling of Douglas County District Judge John E. Murphy that the law is discriminatory, non-uniform, arbitrary and capricious and failed to conform with constitutional requirements of due process.

The test case was brought by Benson and Ruth Bachus on behalf of themselves and 2,846 Douglas County taxpayers similarly affected by the law.

The high court, in the unanimous decision noted that the law, passed as LB206, provides two different penatlies, inadequate notice to taxpayers of tax reporting errors and inadequate opportunity for hearing or appeal.

The court also noted:

Penalty Waiver

"The Legislature, specifically in LB206, endeavored to provide for a waiver of penalties where the omission of failure to return was the result of an innocent mistake and could not in any way be deemed to be the result of an intent to avoid the filing of a lawful return or the payment of a tax lawfully due. Yet, the legislature provided a process so deficient that in operation, in many instances, a taxpayer might not even discover that he had a right to the benefits of the waiver, or the necessity to use the right.

"Perhaps the most important practical aspect is that the taxpayer who has made an innocent mistake, but has only a small amount of property added to his return, is the one least likely to realize that he has been subjected to a penalty, and has already paid it, when he was entitled to have it waived."

The law set penalties for failure to list intangible property on tax returns. The penalties were five times, or two times, the tax which would have been due had the intangibles been reported properly.

Money In Trust

District Judge Murphy placed in trust all money collected in Douglas County under the act pending final determination of the case.

The Supreme Court, in knocking down the law, also took a swipe at what it called "the veritable thicket" of Nebraska statutes dealing with personal property taxes.

The court said a review of property tax laws passed since 1927 "reveals a maze of changes and amendments, as well as overlapping and differing statutory penalties and varying methods of procedure.

"It is apparent that there is a lack of uniformity not only as to penalties, but with regard to notice and opportunity for hearing and rights of appeal."

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Upheld a 1963 Kearney annexation ordinance but declined to rule on the constitutionality of the law under which the ordinance was adopted.

The court ruled the annexation of land north of Kearney was valid because the annexed area was adjacent to the city and urban or suburban in character.

The annexation was based on a 1961 law which changed annexation procedures for first class cities, and the landowners contended the law, passed as LB338, violates constitutional safeguards of personal rights.

But the high court said that since the landowners sought a remedy under the law, they could not question its constitutionality.

—Dismissed an appeal of prosecuting attorneys who had asked the court to reverse the order granting a new trial and reinstate the guilty verdict of Marvin E. Taylor, convicted of a 1964 filling station robbery in Lincoln.

The court stated that while a criminal case is still pending, "an appeal may not be had to this court for the purpose of securing rulings on questions of law that may arise on retrial of the case."

A Lancaster County District Court jury found Thayer guilty on the robbery charge, but the court judge sustained a motion for new trial without stating any specific reasons. Taylor conended a number of his rights were violated during the trial.

—Dismissed the appeal of Robert William Losieau, serving a 20-year term in the State Penitentiary, on the grounds Losieau did not file his appeal motion in time.

—Upheld on a 5-2 decision of a Dodge County District Court ruling in litigation over the wills of Frank and Elizabeth Middaugh involving about $250,000 in property. The couple, who had no children, executed reciprocal wills, and when Middaugh died in 1953, his wife became sole beneficiary of the estate. However, seven years later, Mrs. Middaugh executed another will by which she altered the distribution of property to the benefit of her nieces and nephews and to the detriment of the nieces and nephews of her deceased husband.

When Mrs. Middaugh died last year, nieces and nephews of Frank Middaugh brought court action contending the original wills represented irrevocable contracts. The lower court had rejected that contention.

—Ordered a new trial in a case involving injuries suffered by a Lincoln cab driver whet his taxi was hit by a car in Lincoln on Jan. 11, 1963. The cab driver, George H. Stevens, brought action in court seeking compensation from his employer, the Capital Cab Co., for the injuries.

A Lancaster District Court jury ruled that negligence by Stevens in part, caused the accident, but the high court reversed the decision and granted a new trial because of a court error.

—Affirmed a Scotts Bluff District Court judgment for Larry Evelyn in a dispute with the Martin Milling Co., his former employer. The court held that Evelyn is not required to repay advancements to him as a salesman against future commissions when the company goes out of business.

—Ruled that the alimony allowance of the Platte District Court for the former Maxyne M. Sowder was not excessive when she divorced Michael Sowder. Both have since remarried.

DINNER is prenuptial courtesy

In prenuptial courtesy to Miss Mary Quinn and Norman William Wilkins, Jr, whose marriage will be solemnized this evening at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal, Mr Wilkins parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman W Wilkins of Cozad, presided at dinner on Friday evening at the University Club.

The guest list included the members of the families and the bridal party.

ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Eldon and I have been married for over a year and it's like pulling teeth to get him to visit my parents with me. When he does go, he just sits there like a bump on a log and doesn't say a word to them. When we get home I tell him if he doesn't talk to my folks they are going to think he is stuck up, or mad at them. He says my father doesn't know anything about sports and my mother doesn't shut up long long enough for anyone to get a word in. I think he could be more friendly for my sake. How can I get him to be more sociable with my folks? Or is it just a losing battle?

ELDON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Leave him alone. Perhaps he still feels a little uncomfortable in their presence. Be glad he goes with you, even if he's no jamboree.

DEAR ABBY: The switchboard operator-receptionist girl here seems to be using her job to make "contacts." If a salesman comes in, she gets palsy-walsy with him and before you know it she's got a lunch date or dinner date with him. She's considered an eyeful, if you like the type who overdresses and uses a lot of makeup. She claims she always asks if a man is married before she accepts a date with him, as married men are off her list. (Big deal! She only picks up unmarried strangers.) She's a divorcee and supports two small children so we hate to report her to the office manager because it might cost her her job. What do you suggest?

THE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: An "eyeful" who must support two children also has a "headful" to land a job where she can meet men. From here it appears that the girl is only trying to meet men with honorable intentions. I suggest that you girls pull in your claws.

DEAR ABBY. I am 76 years old and live alone in a mobile home. When my husband was living, I had many friends. In fact, one year I received 81 Christmas cards. This mobile home is on a busy turnpike and it is difficult for my friends who drive to visit me, so consequently I have very few guests and I get terribly hungry for people to talk to.

It is true I am hard of hearing, but I do wear a hearing aid. Now I am told by my relatives that I talk too much. Yes, I admit I am deaf, but I see no reason why I should become mute, too, so I talk to my cat. Tell me, Abby, do you think it is possible for a person who loves people and enjoys conversation to talk too much?

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: Yes—but you can overcome it. The next time you are with someone, make an effort to let that person talk without interrupting him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE THREE MUSKETEERS: Every time you sling a little mud, you lose a little ground.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble	2 ♠	3 ♥

Opening lead — ace of hearts.

Perhaps this may come as a surprise, but the fact is that even the best bidders in the world do not get to the best contract more than 9% of the time.

There are simply too many billions, even trillions, of deals possible for any pair using any system to expect to come anywhere near the ideal 100%.

So, if you feel discouraged about the bad contracts you and your partner occasionally get to, cheer up, you've got lots of company.

For a sample of the difficulties encountered, cast your eyes on this hand played in a high-level team of four match. South got to four spades on the bidding shown and had no trouble making seven.

Certainly a small slam would be an excellent contract to reach if you could see partner's hand as well as your own. However the slam is not easy to get to with standard methods

The cards fit so exactly, with North having the golden combination of the king of spades, jack of diamonds and ace of clubs, that it is hard for South to undertake a slam opposite what looks to North like a mediocre hand.

Of course it is possible to arrange a sequence that gets you to the small or grand slam, but, in ordinary practice, the slam would be missed more often than not.

The bidding at the second table went in this peculiar way.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble	2 ♠	3 ♥
3 ♠	4 ♥	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dble

South's bid of only three spades was obviously strategic, since he must have felt certain that he could make at least four. In a sense, his bid paid off, since it helped to induce a (very poor) double by East. South lost the slam bonus of 750 points, but he did get back 680 points in its place.

NEWS

of the suburban areas

One sign of summer months is the backyard tent, whether it is the improvised card-table-and-blanket-type or the real thing staked to the ground. Tent dwellers may vacation for a week in one of our nation's parks with their parents, or spend a week away from home under the supervision of a camp director.

EASTRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Peterson have three campers in their family. Sunday they send their daughter, Judy, off to Camp Kiwanis near Milford, where she will spend a week. The Peterson family has a one week break after Judy's return and then their son, Mark, packs his camping gear for Camp Kitaki. Shirley Peterson is now spending eight weeks in Colorado attending Rocky Ridge Music Camp.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Travelers in the Hollywood Heights area recently have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Killion. They spent last week in Missouri visiting Mr. Killion's brother-in-law and sister, Judge and Mrs. Tom Handly who reside in Rich Hill, Mo. A special stop was also made in Golden City, to revisit Mr. Killion's home town which is located in the Ozarks.

Now that the Killions have returned home, they have been busy traveling in the Lincoln area. Thursday night they drove to Gretna to visit their son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs. Marvin Killion and their children, Linda and Mark. There was another reason for the trip—to celebrate Mr. Killion's birthday. Also there for the celebration was their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Paul Killion Jr. and children, Pam, Pat, and Polly of Big Springs who have been visiting with the family in Lincoln.

KIMBALLCREST

There is shower news from Kimballcrest. Mrs. Emma Brehm and her daughter, Mrs. Clyde W. Taylor, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening when they honored Miss Gloria Frey who will marry Murlin Moorehead on Saturday, August 7. The shower, given at the home of Mrs. Brehm, was for Miss Frey's friends in the Kimballcrest neighborhood.

MEADOW LANE

Former Lincoln residents are returning for a visit. They are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hindman who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hoffman. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have a special evening planned in their honor on Friday, July 16th, as a courtesy to the visitors. Before moving to Detroit, Mich , Mr. Hindman was office manager for a computing company in Lincoln.

Doug Kitrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kitrell, had two days of celebration for his fifth birthday, July 6th. It all began on Tuesday night when the family helped Doug celebrate the occasion. Guests at his party were Mrs. Blanche Kitrell, Mr. and Mrs Jack Kitrell and their children, John and Connie; Mr. and Mrs. Al Sweetman, Mr. and Mrs Robert Harrington, and their children, Pat, Peggy, Holly, and Judy, Mr. and Mrs James Mason, and Miss Linda Lakey.

This didn't seem quite enough celebrating for Doug, because on Wednesday he had a party in Bethany Park. His guest list included Debbie, Dixie, and Dori Halada, Timmy and Jimmy Donnelson, Pat and Nancy Ruyle, Cindy and Steffie Sommerville, Scott and Randy Toney, and Pat and Judy Harrington. One of Doug's older guests was Mrs. Del Halada.

News from another generation in the Kitrell family is that Mrs. Kitrell had an unexpected luncheon guest on Wednesday. Mrs. John Anderson of Los Angeles came visiting for the afternoon.

Family Ceremony

In the presence of members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Rose Lee Krupinsky, daughter of Mrs. H. M. Krupinsky of Fremont, to Jack Gilbert Fishman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe H. Fishman of Alton, Ill., was solemnized Monday noon, July 5, at St. Louis, Mo. Rabbi Robert Jacobs read the lines of the service.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Meribeth Krupinsky of Fremont, and Bernard Fishman of Springfield, Mo., served his brother as best man.

Following a wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Fishman left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks, after which they will reside in Springfield, Mo.

Bridal Showers

Choosing a September date for her wedding is Miss Barbara Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Becker, who will become the bride of Terry L. Holgate of Walterloo, Iowa, on Saturday, Sept. 11.

Miss Becker has revealed that her wedding will take place at a 7:30 o'clock evening service, to be solemnized at Immanuel Lutheran Church.

In prenuptial courtesy to the bride-elect, Mrs. Kenneth Berg will be a hostess at her home on Friday, July 23. Twenty-five guests have been invited for an informal evening and will present a linen shower to the honoree.

The bride-to-be also will be honored on Friday evening, July 30, when she will be presented a miscellaneous shower at a courtesy to be held at the First Federal party room. Hostesses will be Mrs. Gary Moyer, Miss Carol Litchfield, Mrs. William Becker and Miss Jelena Becker.

Recent courtesies for Miss Becker include the bridal shower given by Mrs. Richard Rinne at her home.

AUTUMN

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Eldon and I have been married for over a year and it's like pulling teeth to get him to visit my parents with me. When he does go, he just sits there like a bump on a log and doesn't say a word to them. When we get home I tell him if he doesn't talk to my folks they are going to think he is stuck up, or mad at them. He says my father doesn't know anything about sports and my mother doesn't shut up long long enough for anyone to get a word in. I think he could be more friendly for my sake. How can I get him to be more sociable with my folks? Or is it just a losing battle?

ELDON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Leave him alone. Perhaps he still feels a little uncomfortable in their presence. Be glad he goes with you, even if he's no jamboree.

DEAR ABBY: The switchboard operator-receptionist girl here seems to be using her job to make "contacts." If a salesman comes in, she gets palsy-walsy with him and before you know it she's got a lunch date or dinner date with him. She's considered an eyeful, if you like the type who overdresses and uses a lot of makeup. She claims she always asks if a man is married before she accepts a date with him, as married men are off her list. (Big deal! She only picks up unmarried strangers.) She's a divorcee and supports two small children so we hate to report her to the office manager because it might cost her her job. What do you suggest?

THE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: An "eyeful" who must support two children also has a "headful" to land a job where she can meet men. From here it appears that the girl is only trying to meet men with honorable intentions. I suggest that you girls pull in your claws.

DEAR ABBY: I am 76 years old and live alone in a mobile home. When my husband was living, I had many friends. In fact, one year I received 81 Christmas cards. This mobile home is on a busy turnpike and it is difficult for my friends who drive to visit me, so consequently I have very few guests and I get terribly hungry for people to talk to.

It is true I am hard of hearing, but I do wear a hearing aid. Now I am told by my relatives that I talk too much. Yes, I admit I am deaf, but I see no reason why I should become mute, too, so I talk to my cat. Tell me, Abby, do you think it is possible for a person who loves people and enjoys conversation to talk too much?

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: Yes—but you can overcome it. The next time you are with someone, make an effort to let that person talk without interrupting him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE THREE MUSKETEERS: Every time you sling a little mud, you lose a little ground.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

Opening lead — ace of hearts.

Perhaps this may come as a surprise, but the fact is that even the best bidders in the world do not get to the best contract more than 9% of the time.

There are simply too many billions, even trillions, of deals possible for any pair using any system to expect to come anywhere near the ideal 100%.

So, if you feel discouraged about the bad contracts you and your partner occasionally get to, cheer up, you've got lots of company.

For a sample of the difficulties encountered, cast your eyes on this hand played in a high-level team of four match. South got to four spades on the bidding shown and had no trouble making seven.

Certainly a small slam would be an excellent contract to reach if you could see partner's hand as well as your own. However the slam is not easy to get to with standard methods.

The cards fit so exactly, with North having the golden combination of the king of spades, jack of diamonds and ace of clubs, that it is hard for South to undertake a slam opposite what looks to North like a mediocre hand.

Of course it is possible to arrange a sequence that gets you to the small or grand slam, but, in ordinary practice, the slam would be missed more often than not.

The bidding at the second table went in this peculiar way:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble	2 ♠	3 ♥
3 ♠	4 ♥	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dble

South's bid of only three spades was obviously strategic, since he must have felt certain that he could make at least four. In a sense, his bid paid off, since it helped to induce a (very poor) double by East. South lost the slam bonus of 750 points, but he did get back 680 points in its place.

NEWS

of the suburban areas

One sign of summer months is the backyard tent, whether it is the improvised card-table-and-blanket-type or the real thing staked to the ground. Tent dwellers may vacation for a week in one of our nation's parks with their parents, or spend a week away from home under the supervision of a camp director.

EASTRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Peterson have three campers in their family. Sunday they send their daughter, Judy, off to Camp Kiwanis near Milford, where she will spend a week. The Peterson family has a one week break after Judy's return and then their son, Mark, packs his camping gear for Camp Kitaki. Shirley Peterson is now spending eight weeks in Colorado attending Rocky Ridge Music Camp.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Travelers in the Hollywood Heights area recently have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Killion. They spent last week in Missouri visiting Mr. Killion's brother-in-law and sister, Judge and Mrs. Tom Handly who reside in Rich Hill, Mo. A special stop was also made in Golden City, to revisit Mr. Killion's home town which is located in the Ozarks.

Now that the Killions have returned home, they have been busy traveling in the Lincoln area. Thursday night they drove to Gretna to visit their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Killion and their children, Linda and Mark. There was another reason for the trip—to celebrate Mr. Killion's birthday. Also there for the celebration was their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Paul Killion Jr. and children, Pam, Pat, and Polly of Big Springs who have been visiting with the family in Lincoln.

KIMBALLCREST

There is shower news from Kimballcrest. Mrs. Emma Brehm and her daughter, Mrs. Clyde W. Taylor, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening when they honored Miss Gloria Frey who will marry Murlin Moorehead on Saturday, August 7. The shower, given at the home of Mrs. Brehm, was for Miss Frey's friends in the Kimballcrest neighborhood.

MEADOW LANE

Former Lincoln residents are returning for a visit. They are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hindman who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hoffman. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have a special evening planned in their honor on Friday, July 16th, as a courtesy to the visitors. Before moving to Detroit, Mich., Mr. Hindman was office manager for a computing company in Lincoln.

Doug Kitrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kitrell, had two days of celebration for his fifth birthday, July 6th. It all began on Tuesday night when the family helped Doug celebrate the occasion. Guests at his party were Mrs. Blanche Kitrell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kitrell and their children, John and Connie; Mr. and Mrs. Al Sweetman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrington, and their children, Pat, Peggy, Holly, and Judy; Mr. and Mrs. James Mason, and Miss Linda Lakey.

This didn't seem quite enough celebrating for Doug, because on Wednesday he had a party in Bethany Park. His guest list included Debbie, Dixie, and Dori Halada, Timmy and Jimmy Donnelson, Pat and Nancy Ruyle, Cindy and Steffie Sommerville, Scott and Randy Toney, and Pat and Judy Harrington. One of Doug's older guests was Mrs. Del Halada.

News from another generation in the Kitrell family is that Mrs. Kitrell had an unexpected luncheon guest on Wednesday. Mrs. John Anderson of Los Angeles came visiting for the afternoon.

Family Ceremony

In the presence of members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Rose Lee Krupinsky, daughter of Mrs. H. M. Krupinsky of Fremont, to Jack Gilbert Fishman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe H. Fishman of Alton, Ill., was solemnized Monday noon, July 5, at St. Louis, Mo. Rabbi Robert Jacobs read the lines of the service.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Meribeth Krupinsky of Fremont, and Bernard Fishman of Springfield, Mo., served his brother as best man.

Following a wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Fishman left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks, after which they will reside in Springfield, Mo.

Bridal Showers

Choosing a September date for her wedding is Miss Barbara Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Becker, who will become the bride of Terry L. Holgate of Walterloo, Iowa, on Saturday, Sept. 11.

Miss Becker has revealed that her wedding will take place at a 7:30 o'clock evening service, to be solemnized at Immanuel Lutheran Church.

In prenuptial courtesy to the bride-elect, Mrs. Kenneth Berg will be a hostess at her home on Friday, July 23. Twenty-five guests have been invited for an informal evening and will present a linen shower to the honoree.

The bride-to-be also will be honored on Friday evening, July 30, when she will be presented a miscellaneous shower at a courtesy to be held at the First Federal party room. Hostesses will be Mrs. Gary Moyer, Miss Carol Litchfield, Mrs. William Becker and Miss Jelena Becker.

Recent courtesies for Miss Becker include the bridal shower given by Mrs. Richard Rinne at her home.

Miss Becker's fiance is serving with the Air Force and currently is stationed in Alaska.

AUTUMN wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warkow make announcement this morning of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jeanette Dorlene, to Robert H. Bauch, son of Mrs. Mary Bauch of Valentine.

The wedding is planned for early autumn.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Commuter Golf Popular Between York, Lincoln

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

York—Rapid transportation has introduced a new feature into the game of golf in southeast Nebraska—commuter golf.

York Country Club personnel say they have quite a few memebers and individuals from Lincoln and other surrounding communities making the trip to York to use the fine facilities.

It's only an hour's drive from the Capital City, and that will be shortened when the Interstate Highway is completed to York this fall.

"They can drive out here and not be hurried," explained pro Gary Gruenemeier. "You can probably drive here and play a game as fast as you can in Lincoln with the crowded courses and having to wait in line."

Many intercity golf friendships have also been established, noted board member Dean Sack, so "there's traffic both ways."

The practice has become particularly popular among the ladies.

One family has members in Lincoln, Hastings and York, so they hold family get-togethers at the halfway point—the York Country Club.

Out-of-town members have been encouraged in the past, Sack said, but with over 700 on the roster, "it gets pretty full on holidays and weekends."

Still, in general, there's none of the necessity of getting up at 5 a.m. to get a place in line.

The nine-hole, grass-green layout on gently sloping hills at the southwest edge of York is particularly attractive.

"It's one of the best nine-hole courses in the country," boasted E. H. Volzke, who has managed the club with his wife, Edna, since 1942.

"It's in the best shape now it's ever been in. Every thing's irrigated, and we have a new clubhouse and pro shop."

Lincolnites, Sack noted, are "free with their compliments. They like it. It's tricky and excellent."

Grunenemeier, who was assistant pro at Pioneers Golf Course in Lincoln and head pro at Oakland before moving to York in March, termed the course "as good as any of the public courses in Lincoln — or better. It's better than any other nine-holer around."

The Volzkes' talents in the kitchen of the six-year-old clubhouse add to the club's appeal, though they don't admit any special treatment of out-of-town guests.

"We're just nice to people," said Edna.

With a stable financial situation and relatively low dues, the club is successful year-round as a restaurant and meeting place because, Sacki said, it has "a little bit more than the others around here."

Daily Double Returns $412

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Awful Light (No. 4) and Carletown (No. 6) combined wins in the first and second races respectively to pay a daily double of $412 at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Friday.

Awful Light, the 6-1 third-choice of the crowd, ran just off the pace until it moved to the lead in the final turn and swung wide in the stretch to win by 1½ lengths over Silvery Rose, the 8-5 favorite.

The latter closed fast at the turn but tired at the finish. Silvery Rose, however, easily outdistanced the show horse Fast Host by 3½ lengths.

Awful Light paid $14.40, $7.20 and $4.80; Silvery Rose returned 3.40 and 3.00; and Fast Host paid $11.60.

In the second race, Carletown, a 30-1 underdog, trailed the field until the backstretch where it challenged the leader, Ocean Money, and pulled away in the stretch to beat Melanies Shoes by a length.

Melanies Shoes had to put on a strong drive in the stretch to nip the early leader Ocean Money by a neck in a photo finish.

The winner returned $67.20, $23.60 and $10.40; Melanies Shoes paid $8.40 and $6.20 while Ocean Money paid $9.20 to show.

The eighth race, the Atokad Park feature, was easily captured by Speed of Sound, owned by Barbara Pierce of Reynolds.

Speed of Sound led from the gate and finished 8½ lengths ahead of second-place Buzz Palmer.

The latter stayed back in the field most of the race but came on in the stretch to edge Oech By Gosh by ¾ lengths. Oech By Gosh ran near the leader most of the race but couldn't hold its position in the stretch.

Speed of Sound paid $29.20, $10.80 and $6.20; Buzz Palmer returned $10.20 and $5.20; Oech By Gosh paid $3.20.

The winner was jockeyed by Don Stauffer who also rode Carleton to victory in the second and Alberto Yogi to show in the fifth.

Friday's mutuel handle was $152,182, up $3,850 from a year ago on this date. Attendance was 363 over last year's count of 3,495.

I may fall and break a hip or be sunstruck.

Worrying won't help any though so I guess I'll wade fearlessly into the battle Saturday.

I'll split my $4 allowance for a $2 win ticket on Fredireis in the sixth race and a $2 win ticket on Woodtick in the ninth race.

(Friday Aunt Priscilla got back $7 on Ala Connie, winner of the fourth, and lost $2 on Gin Broker in the sixth for a $3 profit. She has now boosted her original spree fund for $92 to $96.40.)

Australian Wins Title For Fifth Time At 285

. . . AMERICAN CHALLENGERS FADE

Southport, England (AP)—Peter Thomson of Australia emerged from the shadows of near obscurity Friday with a 285 total for his fifth British Open Golf Championship that placed him within one rung of the immortal Harry Vardon.

The 36-year-old professional from Melbourne battled through rain and blustery winds for subpar rounds of 72 and 71, completely smothering one of the strongest American challenges ever mustered.

Of the tour-toughened Yanks, only defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., made a fight of it, moving within one shot with two holes to play. But he faded with a fat six on the final hole and had to settle for a tie for fifth place.

With rounds of 75-74, Lema finished with 289.

A tough little Welshman, Brian Huggett, and Ireland's Christy O'Connor were closest to Thomson with 287 and Roberto de Vicenzo, the long-hitting Argentine, was fourth with 288.

America's one-two golf punch of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer blew sky high and finished down among the also-rans. The other member of the Big Three, South Africa's Gary Player, quit after firing a 79 in the morning

"My neck hurt too much," Player, the U.S. Open champion, said. "I saw no reason to continue."

Nicklaus, Masters champion and strong 3-1 pre-tournament favorite, started the final day with a bogey six and went from bad to worse. He shot rounds of 77 and 73 for 294 that won him a tie for 12th place and $371 in winnings.

Palmer was worse. Fretting over his putting and failing to ignite one of his famous stretch runs, the Latrobe, Pa., strong boy struggled in with rounds of 75 and 79 for 295. The world's richest golfer pocketed exactly $322.

"I am sick," Palmer said. "My putting was atrocious."

Thomson is not an extremely long hitter, as the modern home run hitters go, but he is exceptionally accurate, strong with his irons and an excellent putter. This—and a cold refusal to buckle under pressure—proved his trademark in the final rounds.

The Australian took the third round lead from Lema and Australia's Bruce Devlin by shooting a 72 in the morning's impossible conditions. Then in the afternoon, with the rain subsided but the wind whipping the 7,037-yard, par 73 Royal Birkdale links, Thomson showed his real mettle.

He moved three shots in front with nine holes to play. Lema first and then the long-hitting De Vicenzo made alternate charges at him.

Lema birdied the 13th to move within one stroke of the Australian and had a 12-foot putt on the 16th that would have tied him with his playing partner. The putt hit the cup and rolled out.

"That putt killed me," Lema said later.

Borner To Defend York Title

York — Charlie Borner of Lincoln will defend his York Open Golf championship here today and Sunday with his chief competition expected to come from other Capital City players.

Two Lincoln golfers who pushed Borner for last year's title are back in the starting field for today's opening 18 holes.

Borner, who had taken the first round lead a year ago with an opening 67, was being pressed by Lincoln's Larry Romjue and Gene Chadwell when the young Lincoln golfer dropped a 7-iron seven feet from the pin on the 150-yard 15th hole.

The resulting birdie putt boosted him to the championship with a two-under-par 138. Romjue finished two strokes back and Chadwell tied with Hastings' Wally Hopp for third at 142.

Other top Lincoln golfers in this year's field are Phil Breitfelder, Glen Gruenemier, Dick Thoene and Marv Sellars.

Vern Peterson of Cortland, who tied for fifth a year ago, is also entered.

The golfers will play 18 qualifying holes for today's opening round before being divided into flights for the final round Sunday.

NU Gridders Keep Trim As Butchers, Policemen

Nebraska football players this summer are working at jobs from butchering to policing.

Bob Taucher, 6-5, 272-pound sophomore offensive tackle, is a butcher in his father's meat market, while defensive end Langston Coleman and offensive unit members Duncan Drum, Tony Jeter and Ron Kirkland are all members of the Lincoln Police Department.

The majority of the Huskers are working in construction.

All-America middle guard candidate Walt Barnes has joined quarterback Fred Duda and tackle Lou Narish in "working on the railroad" in Chicago.

Laboring down on the farm are native Nebraskans Kaye Carstens, Bill Johnson, Jim McCord, Marv Mueller and Dennis Thorell.

Jerry Patton, Saginaw, Mich., sophomore, is working in a steel foundry, while Dennis Richnafsky, Clairton, Penn., soph who starred as a spring pass catching sensation, is in steel construction.

Oil has attracted two Huskers—ace linebacker Mike Kennedy with an Omaha firm and soph quarterback Al Fierro in the Texas oil fields.

Earning summer funds and keeping in top physical condition via laboring in the heavy equipment field are tackle John Strohmyer, halfback Harry Wilson, fullback Pete Tatman, fullback George Buckler and end Ivan Zimmer.

Tackle Dick Czap is a shipyard worker in Michigan and Tom Smith is in the service station business in Hastings.

Frank Solich, the Huskers' leading ground gainer in 1964, is again laboring in a Cleveland warehouse.

Commuter Golf Popular Between York, Lincoln

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

York—Rapid transportation has introduced a new feature into the game of golf in southeast Nebraska—commuter golf.

York Country Club personnel say they have quite a few memebers and individuals from Lincoln and other surrounding communities making the trip to York to use the fine facilities.

It's only an hour's drive from the Capital City, and that will be shortened when the Interstate Highway is completed to York this fall.

"They can drive out here and not be hurried," explained pro Gary Gruenemeier. "You can probably drive here and play a game as fast as you can in Lincoln with the crowded courses and having to wait in line."

Many intercity golf friendships have also been established, noted board member Dean Sack, so "there's traffic both ways."

The practice has become particularly popular among the ladies.

One family has members in Lincoln, Hastings and York, so they hold family get-togethers at the half-way point—the York Country Club.

Out-of-town members have been encouraged in the past, Sack said, but with over 700 on the roster, "it gets pretty full on holidays and weekends."

Still, in general, there's none of the necessity of getting up at 5 a.m. to get a place in line.

The nine-hole, grass-green layout on gently sloping hills at the southwest edge of York is particularly attractive.

"It's one of the best nine-hole courses in the country," boasted E. H. Volzke, who has managed the club with his wife, Edna, since 1942.

"It's in the best shape now it's ever been in. Every thing's irrigated, and we have a new clubhouse and pro shop."

Lincolnites, Sack noted, are "free with their compliments. They like it. It's tricky and excellent."

Grunenemeier, who was assistant pro at Pioneers Golf Course in Lincoln and head pro at Oakland before moving to York in March, termed the course "as good as any of the public courses in Lincoln — or better. It's better than any other nine-holer around."

The Volzkes' talents in the kitchen of the six-year-old clubhouse add to the club's appeal, though they don't admit any special treatment of out-of-town guests.

"We're just nice to people," said Edna.

With a stable financial situation and relatively low dues, the club is successful year-round as a restaurant and meeting place because, Sacki said, it has "a little bit more than the others around here."

Daily Double Returns $412

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Awful Light (No. 4) and Carletown (No. 6) combined wins in the first and second races respectively to pay a daily double of $412 at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Friday.

Awful Light, the 6-1 third-choice of the crowd, ran just off the pace until it moved to the lead in the final turn and swung wide in the stretch to win by 1½ lengths over Silvery Rose, the 8-5 favorite.

The latter closed fast at the turn but tired at the finish. Silvery Rose, however, easily outdistanced the show horse Fast Host by 3½ lengths.

Awful Light paid $14.40, $7.20 and $4.80; Silvery Rose returned 3.40 and 3.00; and Fast Host paid $11.60.

In the second race, Carletown, a 30-1 underdog, trailed the field until the backstretch where it challenged the leader, Ocean Money, and pulled away in the stretch to beat Melanies Shoes by a length.

Melanies Shoes had to put on a strong drive in the stretch to nip the early leader Ocean Money by a neck in a photo finish.

The winner returned $67.20, $23.60 and $10.40; Melanies Shoes paid $8.40 and $6.20 while Ocean Money paid $9.20 to show.

The eighth race, the Atokad Park feature, was easily captured by Speed of Sound, owned by Barbara Pierce of Reynolds.

Speed of Sound led from the gate and finished 8½ lengths ahead of second-place Buzz Palmer.

The latter stayed back in the field most of the race but came on in the stretch to edge Oech By Gosh by ¾ lengths. Oech By Gosh ran near the leader most of the race but couldn't hold its position in the stretch.

Speed of Sound paid $29.20, $10.80 and $6.20; Buzz Palmer returned $10.20 and $5.20; Oech By Gosh paid $3.20.

The winner was jockeyed by Don Stauffer who also rode Carleton to victory in the second and Alberto Yogi to show in the fifth.

Friday's mutuel handle was $152,182, up $3,850 from a year ago on this date. Attendance was 363 over last year's count of 3,495.

Australian Wins Title For Fifth Time At 285

. . . AMERICAN CHALLENGERS FADE

Southport, England (AP)—Peter Thomson of Australia emerged from the shadows of near obscurity Friday with a 285 total for his fifth British Open Golf Championship that placed him within one rung of the immortal Harry Vardon.

The 36-year-old professional from Melbourne battled through rain and blustery winds for subpar rounds of 72 and 71, completely smothering one of the strongest American challenges ever mustered.

Of the tour-toughened Yanks, only defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., made a fight of it, moving within one shot with two holes to play. But he faded with a fat six on the final hole and had to settle for a tie for fifth place.

With rounds of 75-74, Lema finished with 289.

A tough little Welshman, Brian Huggett, and Ireland's Christy O'Connor were closest to Thomson with 287 and Roberto de Vicenzo, the long-hitting Argentine, was fourth with 288.

America's one-two golf punch of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer blew sky high and finished down among the also-rans. The other member of the Big Three, South Africa's Gary Player, quit after firing a 79 in the morning.

"My neck hurt too much," Player, the U.S. Open champion, said. "I saw no reason to continue."

Nicklaus, Masters champion and strong 3-1 pre-tournament favorite, started the final day with a bogey six and went from bad to worse. He shot rounds of 77 and 73 for 294 that won him a tie for 12th place and $371 in winnings.

Palmer was worse. Fretting over his putting and failing to ignite one of his famous stretch runs, the Latrobe, Pa., strong boy struggled in with rounds of 75 and 79 for 295. The world's richest golfer pocketed exactly $322.

"I am sick," Palmer said. "My putting was atrocious."

Thomson is not an extremely long hitter, as the modern home run hitters go, but he is exceptionally accurate, strong with his irons and an excellent putter. This—and a cold refusal to buckle under pressure—proved his trademark in the final rounds.

The Australian took the third round lead from Lema and Australia's Bruce Devlin by shooting a 72 in the morning's impossible conditions. Then in the afternoon, with the rain subsided but the wind whipping the 7,037-yard, par 73 Royal Birkdale links, Thomson showed his real mettle.

He moved three shots in front with nine holes to play. Lema first and then the long-hitting De Vicenzo made alternate charges at him.

Lema birdied the 13th to move within one stroke of the Australian and had a 12-foot putt on the 16th that would have tied him with his playing partner. The putt hit the cup and rolled out.

"That putt killed me," Lema said later.

Borner To Defend York Title

York — Charlie Borner of Lincoln will defend his York Open Golf championship here today and Sunday with his chief competition expected to come from other Capital City players.

Two Lincoln golfers who pushed Borner for last year's title are back in the starting field for today's opening 18 holes.

Borner, who had taken the first round lead a year ago with an opening 67, was being pressed by Lincoln's Larry Romjue and Gene Chadwell when the young Lincoln golfer dropped a 7-iron seven feet from the pin on the 150-yard 15th hole.

The resulting birdie putt boosted him to the championship with a two-under-par 138. Romjue finished two strokes back and Chadwell tied with Hastings' Wally Hopp for third at 142.

Other top Lincoln golfers in this year's field are Phil Breitfelder, Glen Gruenemier, Dick Thoene and Marv Sellars.

Vern Peterson of Cortland, who tied for fifth a year ago, is also entered.

The golfers will play 18 qualifying holes for today's opening round before being divided into flights for the final round Sunday.

NU Gridders Keep Trim As Butchers, Policemen

Nebraska football players this summer are working at jobs from butchering to policing.

Bob Taucher, 6-5, 272-pound sophomore offensive tackle, is a butcher in his father's meat market, while defensive end Langston Coleman and offensive unit members Duncan Drum, Tony Jeter and Ron Kirkland are all members of the Lincoln Police Department.

The majority of the Huskers are working in construction.

Laboring down on the farm are native Nebraskans Kaye Carstens, Bill Johnson, Jim McCord, Marv Mueller and Dennis Thorell.

Jerry Patton, Saginaw, Mich., sophomore, is working in a steel foundry, while Dennis Richnafsky, Clairton, Penn., soph who starred as a spring pass catching sensation, is in steel construction.

Oil has attracted two Huskers—ace linebacker Mike Kennedy with an Omaha firm and soph quarterback Al Fierro in the Texas oil fields.

Earning summer funds and keeping in top physical condition via laboring in the heavy equipment field are tackle John Strohmyer, halfback Harry Wilson, fullback Pete Tatman, fullback George Buckler and end Ivan Zimmer.

Tackle Dick Czap is a shipyard worker in Michigan and Tom Smith is in the service station business in Hastings.

Frank Solich, the Huskers' leading ground gainer in 1964, is again laboring in a Cleveland warehouse.

Omaha Plans Steps To Save Pro Hockey

Omaha (UPI)—The plans of a "Save Omaha Hockey" committee were outlined here Friday by chairman William J. Lindsay, Omaha attorney, and Jack D. Webster, Omaha inurance man.

The committee has been formed to keep a professional hockey team in Omaha. It was formed after an announcement that Omaha would not have a hockey team this coming winter.

Lindsay and Webster also said the group has been organized to preserve the Coliseum ice skating rink, used by local skaters and amateur hockey players and for the Ice Follies.

Lindsay said the committee seeks to obtain financial support from local businessmen and secure an affiliation with the six-team International Hockey League.

The Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Foundation has scheduled a meeting for July 13 to decide the fate of the rink.

North Platte Archer Gets Record Walleye

Many Nebraska waters are still muddied due to rain, the Game Commission reports, but this has not prevented some good fishing.

Stirred-up waters at Lake Maloney did not keep Ronald Pettit of North Platte from opening up a new niche in the state bow-and-arrow fishing records Wednesday. Pettit came up with a 3-pound, 15-ounce walleye to add another category to the standings.

This is the third addition this year for the bow-and-arrow department. Largemouth bass and rainbow trout came in earlier. District four law enforcement supervisor Sam Grasmick verified the lunker that measured 22¾ inches.

A capsule report by area:

TEAL PERMITS SENT TO 1,600

Some 1,600 permits have been mailed to applicants for the special season Sept. 4-12, the Game Commission reports.

Mailing will continue as requests are received but the Commission advises that hunters who apply after August 4 will not be able to take part in the experimental season.

Immediate prospects for the season appear good. Above-normal rainfall has been experienced over many areas and should result in a better distribution of teal.

Reds Regain First Place

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds regained first place in the National League Friday night by defeating Milwaukee 6-2 while Pittsburgh whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1. In the American League the Minnesota Twins tightened their hold on the top by trouncing the New York Yankees 8-3.

John Edwards singled home Gordy Coleman with what proved to be the winning run in the sixth inning as the Reds replaced the Dodgers at the top in the NL. The Pirates knocked the Dodgers out of first on Bob Veale's five-hit pitching and Roberto Clemente's two-run homer.

Harmon Killebrew started the Twins on their way to their eighth straight triumph with a three-run homer in the first inning against the Yankees. Don Mincher followed Killebrew with another homer and later socked a second to lead the Twins with four RBI.

Johnny Callison also came up with a four RBI performance, sparking Philadelphia to a 10-2 victory over San Francisco that lifted the Phillies past the Giants into third place.

Houston whipped the New York Mets 6-2 and Tito Francona's three-run homer gave St. Louis a 7-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the other NL games.

Milt Pappas held the Chicago White Sox to four hits as he pitched the Baltimore Orioles to their fifth straight victory 1-0. Boog Powell singled home Brooks Robinson with the game's lone run in the second inning.

Detroit beat Kansas City 7-5 on Ray Oyler's single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning. Washington and Boston split a twi-night double-header. Washington won the opener 2-1 on Ed Brinkman's two out single in the ninth. The Red Sox routed the Senators in the second game 10-1. The Sox got 18 hits and also left 18 runners stranded.

The Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 4-3 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader on Vic Power's two out single with the bases full in the ninth.

Los Angeles won the second game, 2-0, on a two-hitter by rookie Marcelino Lopez.

Drysdale, Marichal Head NL Pitching

. . . PAPPAS TOPS AMERICAN

By The Associated Press

Records, reputation and experience are on the side of the National League pitching corps for Tuesday's All-Star baseball game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

All-Star veterans Don Drysdale of Los Angeles and Juan Marichal head the hard-throwing NL staff, which all told has five men who have completed in past midseason classics.

Only one American League pitcher has All-Star experience—Milt Pappas of Baltimore, who worked a total of two innings in the two 1962 games.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Nationals chose Drysdale and Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati, Marichal of the Giants, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Bob Veale of Pittsburgh and Dick Farrell of Houston as his eight-man staff. Koufax and Veale are the only left-handers.

In addition to Pappas, Al Lopez of the Americans selected one man from his Chicago White Sox staff, relief ace Eddie Fisher, along with Sam McDowell of Cleveland, Mel Stottlemyre of the New York Yankees, Jim Grant of Minnesota, Bob Lee of the Los Angeles Angels, Pete Richert of Washington and John O'Donoghue of Kansas City. McDowell, Richert and O'Donoghue are southpaws.

All eight NL pitchers are starters, while Fisher and Lee of the AL are strictly relievers.

The National's pitchers had a combined record of 84-40 through Thursday's games, led by Koufax's 14-3 and Ellis' 12-3. AL pitchers were 51-36, with Grant tops at 9-2 and O'Donoghue with the unlikely All-Star record of 4-11.

Foul Weather Delays Ladies Midwest Open

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Foul weather washed out firstday play of the $10,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Midwest Open Friday.

High winds hampered players before severe afternoon thunderstorms drenched Walnut Hill Country Club's par 36-36-72 course.

Two Hunters Sought By Game Commission

Two men requesting big-game permits failed to list their town when making application. The Game Commission will not be able to mail out their permits until they get the information.

The men are Joe Pierce, who applied for a rifle-deer permit in the Keha Paha unit, and Frank Campbell, who wanted a rifle-antelope permit for the Banner unit. These hunters are requested to contact the Commission with the missing data.

Hastings Raps Optimists, 4-1

. . . ERRORS AID WIN

The Hastings Juniors scored four runs in the third inning on three singles, three errors, a walk and balk to whip the Lincoln Optimists, 4-1, at Sherman Field Friday night.

Trailing 1-0, Hastings' Steve White and Mike Aspen singled and went to third and second respectively on an error by Optimist third baseman Paul Topliff. Mike Hardin walked to load the bases.

Losing pitcher Tom Ochsner balked allowing White to score, and Aspen and Hardin scored via another bobble by Topliff on Bill Bauer's ground ball. Bauer went to third on the play.

Jim Kerr unloaded a single to score Bauer and Hastings was on top to stay.

The Optimists scored their only run in the first when Bob Scott crossed the plate on a single by Bryce Doebele.

Aspen took the win for Hastings, striking out 13 and walking six.

Hallam — Lincoln Witt's Juniors, behind the two-hit pitching of Gene Witowicz, beat Hallam, 5-1, here Friday night.

Witt's scored two runs in the second when Joe Sutera and Dick Burke scored on two passed balls by Hallam's catcher.

They scored two more runs in the fourth on an error and an infield grounder which brought George Hanigan and Don Duncan across the plate.

Hallam tallied its only run, an unearned score, in the sixth on a single by Denny Roeder and a ground ball by losing pitcher Don Neujahr.

Witt's pushed its final run across in the seventh when Fred Nevels scored on a double by Burke.

Witowicz picked up his first win for Witt's, walking two and striking out 11.

Omaha Plans Steps To Save Pro Hockey

Omaha (UPI)—The plans of a "Save Omaha Hockey" committee were outlined here Friday by chairman William J. Lindsay, Omaha attorney, and Jack D. Webster, Omaha inurance man.

The committee has been formed to keep a professional hockey team in Omaha. It was formed after an announcement that Omaha would not have a hockey team this coming winter.

Lindsay and Webster also said the group has been organized to preserve the Coliseum ice skating rink, used by local skaters and amateur hockey players and for the Ice Follies.

Lindsay said the committee seeks to obtain financial support from local businessmen and secure an affiliation with the six-team International Hockey League.

The Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Foundation has scheduled a meeting for July 13 to decide the fate of the rink.

North Platte Archer Gets Record Walleye

Many Nebraska waters are still muddied due to rain, the Game Commission reports, but this has not prevented some good fishing.

Stirred-up waters at Lake Maloney did not keep Ronald Pettit of North Platte from opening up a new niche in the state bow-and-arrow fishing records Wednesday. Pettit came up with a 3-pound, 15-ounce walleye to add another category to the standings.

TEAL PERMITS SENT TO 1,600

Some 1,600 permits have been mailed to applicants for the special season Sept. 4-12, the Game Commission reports.

Mailing will continue as requests are received but the Commission advises that hunters who apply after August 4 will not be able to take part in the experimental season.

Immediate prospects for the season appear good. Above-normal rainfall has been experienced over many areas and should result in a better distribution of teal.

Reds Regain First Place

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds regained first place in the National League Friday night by defeating Milwaukee 6-2 while Pittsburgh whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1. In the American League the Minnesota Twins tightened their hold on the top by trouncing the New York Yankees 8-3.

John Edwards singled home Gordy Coleman with what proved to be the winning run in the sixth inning as the Reds replaced the Dodgers at the top in the NL. The Pirates knocked the Dodgers out of first on Bob Veale's five-hit pitching and Roberto Clemente's two-run homer.

Harmon Killebrew started the Twins on their way to their eighth straight triumph with a three-run homer in the first inning against the Yankees. Don Mincher followed Killebrew with another homer and later socked a second to lead the Twins with four RBI.

Johnny Callison also came up with a four RBI performance, sparking Philadelphia to a 10-2 victory over San Francisco that lifted the Phillies past the Giants into third place.

Houston whipped the New York Mets 6-2 and Tito Francona's three-run homer gave St. Louis a 7-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the other NL games.

Milt Pappas held the Chicago White Sox to four hits as he pitched the Baltimore Orioles to their fifth straight victory 1-0. Boog Powell singled home Brooks Robinson with the game's lone run in the second inning.

Detroit beat Kansas City 7-5 on Ray Oyler's single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning. Washington and Boston split a twi-night double-header. Washington won the opener 2-1 on Ed Brinkman's two out single in the ninth. The Red Sox routed the Senators in the second game 10-1. The Sox got 18 hits and also left 18 runners stranded.

The Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 4-3 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader on Vic Power's two out single with the bases full in the ninth.

Los Angeles won the second game, 2-0, on a two-hitter by rookie Marcelino Lopez.

Drysdale, Marichal Head NL Pitching

By The Associated Press

Records, reputation and experience are on the side of the National League pitching corps for Tuesday's All-Star baseball game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

All-Star veterans Don Drysdale of Los Angeles and Juan Marichal head the hard-throwing NL staff, which all told has five men who have completed in past midseason classics.

Only one American League pitcher has All-Star experience—Milt Pappas of Baltimore, who worked a total of two innings in the two 1962 games.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Nationals chose Drysdale and Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati, Marichal of the Giants, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Bob Veale of Pittsburgh and Dick Farrell of Houston as his eight-man staff. Koufax and Veale are the only left-handers.

All eight NL pitchers are starters, while Fisher and Lee of the AL are strictly relievers.

The National's pitchers had a combined record of 84-40 through Thursday's games, led by Koufax's 14-3 and Ellis' 12-3. AL pitchers were 51-36, with Grant tops at 9-2 and O'Donoghue with the unlikely All-Star record of 4-11.

Two Hunters Sought By Game Commission

Two men requesting big-game permits failed to list their town when making application. The Game Commission will not be able to mail out their permits untl they get the information.

The men are Joe Pierce, who applied for a rifle-deer permit in the Keha Paha unit, and Frank Campbell, who wanted a rifle-antelope permit for the Banner unit. These hunters are requested to contact the Commission with the missing data.

SENATE—

Ethics Panel Picked

Washington (AP)— Three Senate Democrats and three Republicans were named Friday to form a new committee with a mandate to police the ethics of their colleagues and senatorial employes.

It was almost a year ago, last July 24, that the Senate voted 61 to 19 to set up the group with the hopes of preventing any more explosive incidents such as those involving the outside activities of Bobby Baker.

The inquiry into the big money activities of the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority was only recently wrapped up. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said they deliberately held off their recommendations for membership until the inquiry ended.

Interrupted Debate

The makeup of the group was announced by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who interrupted Senate debate on the Social Security-health care bill. They are:

Democrats — Sens. John Stennis of Mississippi, A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Republicans — Sens. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, James B. Pearson of Kansas and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

The committee members gathered briefly in Humphrey's office for a picture-taking session but set no date for an organization session.

The six members will elect their own chairman and vice chairman. And they will have power to subpoena witnesses, to take testimony under oath and to hire a staff.

Proposing Rules

The committee has the task not only of looking into allegations of improper or illegal activity but of recommending disciplinary measures and proposing whatever rules or legislation it feels are needed to insure proper conduct by senators and Senate employes.

Cooper, a member of the Rules Committee that conducted the Baker inquiry, was the one who proposed creation of the special committee. He said its balanced bipartisan makeup would tend to eliminate the political partisanship that boiled around the Baker probe.

But Cooper told a reporter he did not know he was being appointed to the group until Humphrey read the names to the Senate.

"I don't consider it as a committee that will be engaged in continuous investigations," Cooper said, "but rather as one to receive complaints and deal with them. It should serve as a deterrent."

Bogalusa Marches Suspended

Bogalusa, La. (AP)— Negro leaders bowed to urgent pleas from the mayor and the governor and suspended civil rights marches through racially troubled Bogalusa for the time being.

"There will be no march" Friday and Saturday, A. Z. Young told Negro youths massed for a march. "We will abide by the city's request." He hinted at a possible march Sunday.

The town's 36-man police force, backed up by 200 state policemen, kept an uneasy peace here, where a white man was shot and seriously wounded yesterday when he attacked Negroes during a protest march.

Young, president of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League, promised his followers, "We will not sell you out. We will not sell you short."

His announcement followed a city hall conference with Mayor Jesse Cutrer and State Police Supt. Tom Burbank.

WILD DEER PREFERS BARNYARD

This yearling wild deer prefers grazing with a herd of dairy cattle to life in the timber nearby. Farmer Herb Becherer, located near Belleville, Ill., said the young deer appeared in his pasture last Sunday. Since then it has broused in the pasture and barnyard, letting people come within a foot or two before trotting away. The Becherer children hope the yearling is there to stay. They have named it "Sandy."

A Top Soviet Union Leader Is Missing

Moscow (AP) — A member of the Soviet Union's top command was missing Thursday and Friday, without public explanation, from a session of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) of the Russian Federated Republic.

The missing official is premier of that republic, the Soviet Union's largest, and, more important, a member of the top-level Communist Party Presidium. He is Gennady I. Voronov, who rose to prominence in the era of Nikita S. Khrushchev. Voronov's last reported public appearance was June 4.

Three other prominent Soviet leaders have been missing recently from important functions: Nikolai V. Podgorny, former Ukraine party chief who became a top Soviet party secretary under Khrushchev; Pyotr Y. Shelest, Ukraine party chief who became a candidate member of the top Presidium under Khrushchev and a full member after Khrushchev's fall last October, and Pyotr N. Demichev, a light industry specialist and candidate member of the ruling Presidium.

Questions Declined

Voronov has been considered a member of the collective leadership which took over the Soviet reins after Premier Khrushchev was deposed last fall as party and government chief. Soviet officials declined to answer questions about the republic premier's failure to attend the parliament session.

Voronov's absence coincides with the disappearance from public view of Presidium member Podgorny, a party secretary who presumably was second to Communist Party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

There have been reports in diplomatic circles — unconfirmed — that Podgorny has been ill.

Strange

Diplomatic sources considered the absence of Voronov from his own parliament's session strange, but the more cautious ones hesitated to jump to a conclusion that he had been ousted from the leadership.

Voronov, 54, is a party professional who started life as an electrician. He was a party official in Chita in eastern Siberia from 1950 to 1955 and then became deputy Soviet minister of Agriculture and inspector of sheep raising.

He became a member of the party's Central Committee in 1952 under Stalin and a member of the Presidium in 1961 under Khrushchev.

Grand Jury Indicts 5 In Mass Rape

Los Angeles (AP)—A police lieutenant's daughter calmly told a grand jury Friday her story of a mass sexual attack upon her.

The jury later indicted five men, three on charges of forcible rape, two others on charge of aiding and abetting forcible rape.

Shirley Diane O'Neal, 19, who was reported in hysterical condition for days after the June 29 rape, maintained her composure as she quietly testified before the jury.

The men indicted were five she had previously identified in a police lineup.

Not Present

Not present Friday was her father, Lt. Thomas E. O'Neal.

Police said that, as suspects were being rounded up following the attack on Miss O'Neal, the lieutenant, who had been assisting in the investigation, shot and wounded a handcuffed man who had been arrested.

Lt. O'Neal was arraigned Thursday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Police say Carl E. Norman, 21, wounded seriously in the outburst of firing at the West Valley Police Station, has been cleared of complicity in the rape.

Miss O'Neal's testimony before the jury was not disclosed. The jury's charges supersede those previously filed against the quintet by the district attorney's office.

Selling Cookbooks

Miss O'Neal told officers earlier she was selling cookbooks door to door when she was lured to the home of George Ulatowski, 18, in suburban Northridge, on the pretext of making a sale.

In addition to Ulatowski the others named in the jury's indictments were Eric Forrest, 19, of Reseda; Mathew D. Melville, 20, of Chatsworth; Ford Wood, 20, of Northridge, and a brother, Ronald, 21.

Melville, Ulatowski and Ford Wood were charged with both forcible rape and aiding and abetting, the other two with aiding and abetting. Authorities said the law doesn't differentiate between one charge and the other. The penalty for each is the same: three years to life imprisonment.

Closed Circuit TV, Computer To Find Cars

New York (AP)—Closed circuit television and computers are closing in on stolen cars.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced Thursday a new "wanted car" detection system to go into operation first in Long Island's Nassau County. The system consists of closed circuit television concealed in toll booths, in back of stop signs or near signal lights.

The cameras automatically read all license plates that pass and in 25,000ths of a second transmit the data through a scanner and into a computer, which holds a list of vehicles wanted as stolen or belonging to wanted or fleeing criminals.

High School Entrants Should Plan In Summer For Good Start This Fall

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Entering high school in September?

Plans made this summer will help you get off to a good start!

Find out all you can about the new school. Rather than worry about it all summer, you should discuss first day activities with students who attended last year.

Students who did this in the past tell me that everything went off smoothly and that they felt comfortable in the new school.

On the other hand, students who had been outstanding successes in junior high but who had failed to make advance inquiries often felt lost and uncertain.

You will not be lost in the large student body if you exert a little effort. You will meet the same small group of students every day in each of your classes. This is your chance to get acquainted. Friends are made one at a time and to have friends you must be a friend.

Set Goals

Almost before you are acquainted you may be confronted with choices between band, athletics, school paper, debating teams and drama. You should plan to pick one and give it a try. You can always make another choice the next semester.

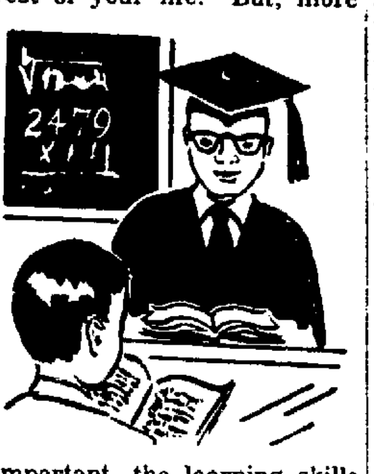
Put studies first, One extra-curricular activity well done is a better recommendation for college and a future job than several done in a haphazard manner.

To get off to a good start in the new school year you should be working toward specific goals. Your goal may change from year to year but it is important that you always be working toward something.

In a study of high school students it was found that those who were goal-minded in high school not only made higher grades but, in addition, those who entered college succeeded better than students with the same I.Q.'s who were non-goal-minded.

Permanent Record

For the first time the grades you make become part of your permanent record and will follow you the rest of your life. But, more important, the learning skills you acquire will be needed for college, on the job and for worthy use of your leisure time.



Here are some procedures that will get you off to a good start in acquiring learning skills:

1. Enter each course with a firm determination to build up a background of knowledge as early as possible. The first week of school or, better still, in the weeks before the opening of school, get a preview of the organization of each course.
2. Do some independent study in addition to completing class assignments.
3. Learn in class rather than postponing learning. At the first indication that you are not understanding the teacher increase your preview study for the next day's lesson. If this fails, get help from the counselor or the teacher.
4. Review often rather than just before tests. Thinking about what you are learning fixes the knowledge in your memory.

Big Bear Bagged

The monster weighed 400 pounds, and Reed said it was the largest black bear he had seen in 30 years of trapping. The back country trapper went after the big bear after ranchers complained it was killing their stock.

—SENATE—

Ethics Panel Picked

Washington (AP)— Three Senate Democrats and three Republicans were named Friday to form a new committee with a mandate to police the ethics of their colleagues and senatorial employes.

It was almost a year ago, last July 24, that the Senate voted 61 to 19 to set up the group with the hopes of preventing any more explosive incidents such as those involving the outside activities of Bobby Baker.

The inquiry into the big money activities of the former secretary to the Senate's Democractic majority was only recently wrapped up. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said they deliberately held off their recommendations for membership until the inquiry ended.

Interrupted Debate

The makeup of the group was announced by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who interrupted Senate debate on the Social Security-health care bill. They are:

Democrats — Sens. John Stennis of Mississippi, A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Republicans — Sens. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, James B. Pearson of Kansas and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

The committee members gathered briefly in Humphrey's office for a picture-taking session but set no date for an organization session.

The six members will elect their own chairman and vice chairman. And they will have power to subpoena witnesses, to take testimony under oath and to hire a staff.

Proposing Rules

The committee has the task not only of looking into allegations of improper or illegal activity but of recommending disciplinary measures and proposing whatever rules or legislation it feels are needed to insure proper conduct by senators and Senate employes.

Cooper, a member of the Rules Committee that conducted the Baker inquiry, was the one who proposed creation of the special committee. He said its balanced bipartisan makeup would tend to eliminate the political partisanship that boiled around the Baker probe.

But Cooper told a reporter he did not know he was being appointed to the group until Humphrey read the names to the Senate.

"I don't consider it as a committee that will be engaged in continuous investigations," Cooper said, "but rather as one to receive complaints and deal with them. It should serve as a deterrent."

CHAIRMEN PLEAD:

Keep Tax Drive Out Of Politics

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha — The co-chairmen of the referendum petition drive to place the state income tax law on the 1966 general election ballot asked Friday that partisan politics be divorced from the issue until the petition effort is completed.

"I urge both political parties, the representatives of those parties, and possible candidates to refrain from in any way detracting from the main issue which is the obtaining of ample signatures to place the income tax issue on the ballot," Richard Herman declared.

"At least for the term of the petition drive, we all have an obligation to remove party lines and work toward the successful completion of this drive," Marvin Werve said.

Herman, president of Herman Brothers, Inc., was regional director for Barry Goldwater's 1964 Republican presidential campaign. Werve is Democratic national committeeman, and vice president of the Omaha National Bank.

Cease-Fire

The pair held a news conference at which the call for a political cease-fire was issued.

"The critical issue," Herman said, "is whether or not the people in the State of Nebraska will be privileged to select their own form of taxation."

"We do not intend," Werve declared, "to allow it (the petition drive) to become a political football or a political conveyance for someone running for a political office."

Actual circulation of petitions will begin on or shortly before Aug. 1, Werve said. Petitioners must acquire at least 28,905 signatures, including at least five per cent of the electorate in each of 38 counties, within 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

Enjoined

If petitioners can gather 57,810 signatures, or 10% of the electorate, the state will be enjoined from preparing in advance for administration of the law.

Werve said petitioners are not necessarily seeking 10% of the voters, "but we are not going to turn down any signatures."

State headquarters for the drive will be sited in Omaha and staffed by paid personnel, Werve said.

One of the reasons for the Omaha site is "larger statewide news media coverage," Herman noted.

County and city chairmen will be revealed in the near future.

Not Strictly Omaha

Both Herman and Werve said the drive will not be strictly an Omaha effort.

"It hasn't been," Herman noted. A number of outstate citizens, who prefer to remain unnamed, are assisting already, he said.

"We will not let it become an all-Omaha campaign," Werve said. Outstate vice chairmen will soon be named to help spearhead the drive, he noted.

Trade Talks Begin

Highway Paint Made With Soybeans Tested

The Department of Roads has begun testing a new highway paint made from soybean oil, State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan announced Friday.

The new paint was developed at the Midwest Research Institute in Kansas City, Mo., der Nebraska's Agresearch Program.

It is among the 34 other paint samples submitted by commercial manufacturers for laboratory analysis and service testing.

Bids To Be Asked

Manufacturers of paint meeting the necessary requirements for highway striping will be invited to bid on the state's 1966 highway paint needs.

The highway department purchased 121,990 gallons for its 1965 road program.

Finigan said, "If this paint is successful it could mean more soybeans used for industrial purposes."

The new paint has been laboratory tested, but this is the first time under the Department of Road's highway testing and rating system for striping paint.

A report on comparative cost factors is expected to be available by the end of July, Finigan said.

Five Beekeeping Advisory Board Members Named

Five Nebraskans were named Friday to the Department of Agriculture's advisory board on beekeeping.

Director Pearle F. Finigan announced the board members as William Hansen of Snyder, Richard Marquette of Douglas William Sahlie of Arcadia, Clayton Adee of Kearney and Mervin Shuler of Sutherland.

Other members are Robert E. Roselle of the University of Nebraska and State Entomologist C. J. Walstom.

The seven-member advisory body on the needs of the beekeeping industry was created with the enactment of LB105.

City Workers Write Own Paychecks

Johnston, R.I. (AP) — Town employes in this community began writing their own paychecks Friday under the first do-it-yourself municipal payroll plan in Rhode Island.

Given checkbooks with their names engraved on the cover, the employes write in the amount they wish to draw and then cash the check.

Every two weeks, Town Finance Director Ralph R. Arusso will deposit the weekly $60,000 payroll in the accounts of 350 town employes.

The employes can draw their pay once a week, twice a month or when they need it.

Robert E. Egan, manager of the Johnston branch of the Plantations Bank, which is handling the banking end of the system, explains: "If someone writes out a check for more than his salary, we will merely inform him that he has overdrawn on his account."

The town expects to save money on the expense of preparing the payroll, and the bank expects to attract new customers under the new system.

Farm Machines' Noise Will Be Tested By NU

A series of tests to find out more about the noise levels produced by tractors and other farm machinery is being launched at the University of Nebraska.

The study, financed by the U.S. Public Health Service, will be conducted by Edward W. Simpson, chief of environmental health and safety, and Professor Lester F. Larsen, Nebraska tractor testing engineer.

Simpson said tractor engines have long been suspected of contributing to hearing loss by operators.

But detailed information, he said, is lacking.

Franchise Assessments Set For State Utility Companies

The State Board of Equalization Friday set franchise assessments for taxation purposes on a number of utility companies operating in Nebraska.

The board arrived at a total assessed value of $4,615,655 for this year, up $615,655 from 1964.

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said the franchise assessments will be added to the property tax assessments for the companies for the purposes of both state and local taxation.

Hearing Date Set

Dworak said the board set July 23 as a hearing date for companies that wish to appeal the valuations.

The formula for setting the franchise tax—a levy for the privilege of doing business in the state—is based on plant value and net earnings of the firms.

Telephone companies accounted for the lion's share of the franchise assessments. Their value was set at $3,072,510 for 1965, compared with $2,788,425 a year ago.

Other utility companies, giving the assessed valuation for 1965 and (1964):

Pipeline and natural gas companies, $1,221,725 ($1,080,420); electric companies and electric memberships, $12,365 ($11,385); railway express companies, $36,000 (unchanged); telegraph companies, $21,495 ($20,750); gas companies, $248,545 ($231,860); and bus companies, $69,510 ($66,410).

Strike Relief Checks Readied

Officials of Local 286 of the United Rubber Workers Union were preparing to distribute the first $25 weekly strike relief checks to some 950 workers idled in a strike against Lincoln's Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant.

Union and management spokesmen said Friday there has been no change in the situation. The strike has been on more than two weeks.

Motorcyclist, 18, Is Satisfactory After Car Wreck

A young motorcyclist was in satisfactory condition at a local hospital after colliding with a car at Cotner Blvd. and 65th.

The cyclist was Doyle L. Niemann, 18, of 6629 Holdrege, who was traveling southwest on Cotner when his vehicle collided with a car driven by Carolyn L. Mick, 18, of 1409 No. 65th, who was going northeast on Cotner.

CHAIRMEN PLEAD:

Keep Tax Drive Out Of Politics

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha — The co-chairmen of the referendum petition drive to place the state income tax law on the 1966 general election ballot asked Friday that partisan politics be divorced from the issue until the petition effort is completed.

"I urge both political parties, the representatives of those parties, and possible candidates to refrain from in any way detracting from the main issue which is the obtaining of ample signatures to place the income tax issue on the ballot," Richard Herman declared.

"At least for the term of the petition drive, we all have an obligation to remove party lines and work toward the successful completion of this drive," Marvin Werve said.

Herman, president of Herman Brothers, Inc., was regional director for Barry Goldwater's 1964 Republican presidential campaign. Werve is Democratic national committeeman, and vice president of the Omaha National Bank.

Cease-Fire

The pair held a news conference at which the call for a political cease-fire was issued.

"The critical issue," Herman said, "is whether or not the people in the State of Nebraska will be privileged to select their own form of taxation."

"We do not intend," Werve declared, "to allow it (the petition drive) to become a political football or a political conveyance for someone running for a political office."

Actual circulation of petitions will begin on or shortly before Aug. 1, Werve said. Petitioners must acquire at least 28,905 signatures, including at least five per cent of the electorate in each of 38 counties, within 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

Enjoined

If petitioners can gather 57,810 signatures, or 10% of the electorate, the state will be enjoined from preparing in advance for administration of the law.

Werve said petitioners are not necessarily seeking 10% of the voters, "but we are not going to turn down any signatures."

State headquarters for the drive will be sited in Omaha and staffed by paid personnel, Werve said.

One of the reasons for the Omaha site is "larger statewide news media coverage," Herman noted.

County and city chairmen will be revealed in the near future.

Not Strictly Omaha

Both Herman and Werve said the drive will not be strictly an Omaha effort.

"It hasn't been," Herman noted. A number of outstate citizens, who prefer to remain unnamed, are assisting already, he said.

"We will not let it become an all-Omaha campaign," Werve said. Outstate vice chairmen will soon be named to help spearhead the drive, he noted.

Trade Talks Begin

Bonn, Germany (AP) — West German officials have begun talks in Bucharest aimed at increasing trade with Communist Romania. Romania bought $82.5 million worth of west German goods last year.

Highway Paint Made With Soybeans Tested

The Department of Roads has begun testing a new highway paint made from soybean oil, State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan announced Friday.

The new paint was developed at the Midwest Research Institute in Kansas City, Mo., der Nebraska's Agresearch Program.

It is among the 34 other paint samples submitted by commercial manufacturers for laboratory analysis and service testing.

Bids To Be Asked

Manufacturers of paint meeting the necessary requirements for highway striping will be invited to bid on the state's 1966 highway paint needs.

The highway department purchased 121,990 gallons for its 1965 road program.

Finigan said, "If this paint is successful it could mean more soybeans used for industrial purposes."

The new paint has been laboratory tested, but this is the first time under the Department of Road's highway testing and rating system for striping paint.

A report on comparative cost factors is expected to be available by the end of July, Finigan said.

Five Beekeeping Advisory Board Members Named

Five Nebraskans were named Friday to the Department of Agriculture's advisory board on beekeeping.

Director Pearle F. Finigan announced the board members as William Hansen of Snyder, Richard Marquette of Douglas William Sahlie of Arcadia, Clayton Adee of Kearney and Mervin Shuler of Sutherland.

Other members are Robert E. Roselle of the University of Nebraska and State Entomologist C. J. Walstom.

The seven-member advisory body on the needs of the beekeeping industry was created with the enactment of LB105.

City Workers Write Own Paychecks

Johnston, R.I. (AP)— Town employes in this community began writing their own paychecks Friday under the first do-it-yourself municipal payroll plan in Rhode Island.

Given checkbooks with their names engraved on the cover, the employes write in the amount they wish to draw and then cash the check.

Every two weeks, Town Finance Director Ralph R. Arusso will deposit the weekly $60,000 payroll in the accounts of 350 town employes.

The employes can draw their pay once a week, twice a month or when they need it.

Robert E. Egan, manager of the Johnston branch of the Plantations Bank, which is handling the banking end of the system, explains: "If someone writes out a check for more than his salary, we will merely inform him that he has overdrawn on his account."

The town expects to save money on the expense of preparing the payroll, and the bank expects to attract new customers under the new system.

Farm Machines' Noise Will Be Tested By NU

A series of tests to find out more about the noise levels produced by tractors and other farm machinery is being launched at the University of Nebraska.

The study, financed by the U.S. Public Health Service, will be conducted by Edward W. Simpson, chief of environmental health and safety, and Professor Lester F. Larsen, Nebraska tractor testing engineer.

Simpson said tractor engines have long been suspected of contributing to hearing loss by operators.

But detailed information, he said, is lacking.

Gain In Market Is Small

New York (AP) — The stock market battled Friday to extend its strong rally but ended with only a small gain.

Nevertheless, it was cheering to Wall Street in view of the lack of stimulating develments.

The rally got under way Thursday after two days of losses.

It resumed at the opening Friday, faded around midday, came back and then slid off near the close.

A broker said some profit-taking developed after President Johnson told his news conference that the war in Viet Nam will get worse before it gets better.

Changes of key issues ranged from fractions to a point or so in a few instances.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.64 to 879.49 after having been up 4 points around midafternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 1.2 to 323.7 with industrials up 1.2, rails up 1.2 and utilities up .4.

Of 1,340 issues traded, 754 advanced and 350 declined. New 1965 highs outnumbered new lows 20 to 14.

Volume rose to 4.8 million shares from 4.38 million Thursday.

Among the 15 most-active stocks, 10 advanced, 4 declined and Mission Corp. was unchanged.

Republci Aviation, up 1½ at 18⅛ on 106,400 shares, was most active.

General Motors declined ⅞ to 97⅛. Ford Motor lost ⅛ at 52⅞ and Chrysler dropped ⅞ to 46⅝.

Rubbers, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, rails, oils, airlines and drugs advanced.

Eastman Kodak and Union Carbide gained nearly a point and Du Pont fell about half a point.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds advanced and Treasuries were most unchanged.

Grain Finishes With Small To Moderate Gains

Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market had little of a dullish character as a basis for trading Friday but most commodities finished with small to moderate gains on generally dull dealings.

Wheat and new crop corn posted advances ranging to major fractions with speculators providing most of the support in late trading. Brokers said the buying appeared to be largely short covering, probably to balance commitments in advance of the government's crop report issued after the close of the market.

At the close, soybeans were 1¾ cents a bushel higher to ½ lower, July $2.87—87¼; new standard grade wheat ⅜-⅞ higher, July $1.42¾-⅝; corn ¾ lower to ⅝ higher, July $1.28⅞; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, July 67¼ cents; rye ⅜-¾ higher, July $1.10⅝.

Gain In Market Is Small

New York (AP) — The stock market battled Friday to extend its strong rally but ended with only a small gain.

Nevertheless, it was cheering to Wall Street in view of the lack of stimulating develments.

The rally got under way Thursday after two days of losses.

It resumed at the opening Friday, faded around midday, came back and then slid off near the close.

A broker said some profit-taking developed after President Johnson told his news conference that the war in Viet Nam will get worse before it gets better.

Changes of key issues ranged from fractions to a point or so in a few instances.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.64 to 879.49 after having been up 4 points around midafternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 1.2 to 323.7 with industrials up 1.2, rails up 1.2 and utilities up .4.

Of 1,340 issues traded, 754 advanced and 350 declined. New 1965 highs outnumbered new lows 20 to 14.

Volume rose to 4.8 million shares from 4.36 million Thursday.

Among the 15 most-active stocks, 10 advanced, 4 declined and Mission Corp. was unchanged.

Republici Aviation, up 1½ at 18⅛ on 106,400 shares, was most active.

General Motors declined ⅞ to 97⅛. Ford Motor lost ⅛ at 52⅞ and Chrysler dropped ⅞ to 46⅝.

Rubbers, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, rails, oils, airlines and drugs advanced.

Eastman Kodak and Union Carbide gained nearly a point and Du Pont fell about half a point.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds advanced and Treasuries were most unchanged.

Grain Finishes With Small To Moderate Gains

Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market had little of a dullish character as a basis for trading Friday but most commodities finished with small to moderate gains on generally dull dealings.

Wheat and new crop corn posted advances ranging to major fractions with speculators providing most of the support in late trading. Brokers said the buying appeared to be largely short covering, probably to balance commitments in advance of the government's crop report issued after the close of the market.

At the close, soybeans were 1¾ cents a bushel higher to ½ lower, July $2.87—87¾; new standard grade wheat ⅝-⅞ higher, July $1.42¾-⅝; corn ¾ lower to ⅝ higher, July $1.28⅞; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, July 67¼ cents; rye ⅛-⅜ higher, July $1.10⅝.

New Hanoi Snub Fails To Shake Wilson Belief

London (AP) — A new snub from Hanoi Friday night failed to shake Prime Minister Harold Wilson's belief that the North Vietnamese are beginning to show an interest in peace talks.

The official North Vietnamese news agency (VNA) repeated in an authorized statement, the Hanoi regime's refusal to receive a British commonwealth peace mission. It insisted Wilson's special envoy Harold Davies—A deputy minister of pensions — has been received in Hanoi in a personal rather than official capacity. Any other interpretation is "groundless," the agency said.

The statement aroused little surprise when relayed to Wilson's office.

"It's a dampener of course," one official commented. "But it's not unexpected because few Communist regimes easily change their public positions."

Associates of the prime minister said Wilson would want to await the outcome of the talks Wilson hopes Davies will have with president Ho Chi-Minh before judging the outcome of the initiative.

"It was for the very purpose of removing North Vietnamese misconceptions about the peace mission that Davies went to Hanoi," the informant said. "Until he has a chance to do some talking he would prefer to wait and see."

Cautions Optimism

Wilson's cautious optimism about North Vietnamese interest in peace moves is not shared by his Conservative opponents or by all diplomats in British and allied government.

He has attached much significance to North Viet Nam's acceptance of Davies who was granted a visa on grounds of an old friendship with Ho. Davies' first report still is awaited here.

Wilson in a three-hour session Friday gave U.N. Secretary-General U Thant his appraisal of the crisis in Viet Nam and of peace prospects. In particular he outlined the aims of the British commonwealth's projected mission to all the capitals involved, a mission that Communist powers so far have rebuffed. And he also spelled out just what he hopes Davies will achieve in Hanoi.

Later, before flying to New York at the end of his one-day stopover, U Thant told newsmen:

"I must say our discussions (on Viet Nam) were very useful."

He declined to comment on Davies' assignment.

U Thant described his own approach to a Viet Nam solution.

He urged:

—A halt of "all hostile military activities" as a first step.

—A recall of the 1954 Geneva conference as the second.

"The Geneva agreement," he said, "is very sensible and very realistic and still valid after 11 years."

Brief Escape Adds Year To Sentence

Two hours' freedom Friday netted William D. Marshall an additional year in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin sentenced the 26-year-old Virginian, charged with issuing an insufficient fund check for more than $1,000, to three years on the check charge and an additional year for escaping from the County Jail while en route to District Court for sentencing.

Marshall, unhandcuffed, escaped from the custody of Deputy Sheriff Harlan Kendle while the defendant was being taken from the jail to the courthouse.

Lincoln police and sheriff's deputies apprehended the escapee about two hours later in a vacant apartment at 814 So. 8th.

Officers responded to a telephone call from a person who had spotted Marshall peering in windows of the apartment building.

Marshall was arrested June 22 in connection with some $10,000 worth of merchandise found in a house he occupied.

He had pleaded nolo contendere June 25 and was found guilty of issuing a $1,195 insufficient-fund check.

Father To Be Charged For Trying To Hush Up Rape

. . . TEEN SEX CLUB ALSO SMASHED

Oklahoma City, Okla. (UPI) — Irate officials charged Friday that the politically prominent parent of one of seven boys accused of gang-raping a 15-year-old girl tried to hush the whole thing up as a "boyish prank."

An official also disclosed at least a dozen such cases and the smashing of a teen sex club in this staid city.

Police said they would file charges against the father of one of the youths accused of dragging the teen-age girl into a sports convertible and taking her to a lonely field and raping her. They said the father interfered with the investigation.

County Atty. Curtis P. Harris disclosed a grim file of previous cases in which several youths were accused of raping a girl. He said the parents of the victim refused —or failed—to go to the law.

Harris reported in another case that the 14-year-old daughter of a business executive was attacked at a party sponsored by a teen-age sex club, but her father refused to press charges. Ten boys were suspended from two high schools for membership in the secret club.

The county attorney said that in the latest attack, the father of one boy tried to talk the girl's aunt out of prosecuting because it was a "boyish prank" and would only "ruin reputations."

New Hanoi Snub Fails To Shake Wilson Belief

London (AP) — A new snub from Hanoi Friday night failed to shake Prime Minister Harold Wilson's belief that the North Vietnamese are beginning to show an interest in peace talks.

The official North Vietnamese news agency (VNA) repeated in an authorized statement, the Hanoi regime's refusal to receive a British commonwealth peace mission. It insisted Wilson's special envoy Harold Davies—A deputy minister of pensions — has been received in Hanoi in a personal rather than official capacity. Any other interpretation is "groundless," the agency said.

The statement aroused little surprise when relayed to Wilson's office.

"It's a dampener of course," one official commented. "But it's not unexpected because few Communist regimes easily change their public positions."

Associates of the prime minister said Wilson would want to await the outcome of the talks Wilson hopes Davies will have with president Ho Chi-Minh before judging the outcome of the initiative.

"It was for the very purpose of removing North Vietnamese misconceptions about the peace mission that Davies went to Hanoi," the informant said. "Until he has a chance to do some talking he would prefer to wait and see."

Cautions Optimism

Wilson's cautious optimism about North Vietnamese interest in peace moves is not shared by his Conservative opponents or by all diplomats in British and allied government

He has attached much significance to North Viet Nam's acceptance of Davies who was granted a visa on grounds of an old friendship with Ho. Davies' first report still is awaited here.

Wilson in a three-hour session Friday gave U.N. Secretary-General U Thant his appraisal of the crisis in Viet Nam and of peace prospects. In particular he outlined the aims of the British commonwealth's projected mission to all the capitals involved, a mission that Communist powers so far have rebuffed. And he also spelled out just what he hopes Davies will achieve in Hanoi.

Later, before flying to New York at the end of his one-day stopover, U Thant told newsmen:

"I must say our discussions (on Viet Nam) were very useful."

He declined to comment on Davies' assignment.

U Thant described his own approach to a Viet Nam solution.

He urged:

—A halt of "all hostile military activities" as a first step.

—A recall of the 1954 Geneva conference as the second.

"The Geneva agreement," he said, "is very sensible and very realistic and still valid after 11 years."

Brief Escape Adds Year To Sentence

Two hours' freedom Friday netted William D. Marshall an additional year in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin sentenced the 26-year-old Virginian, charged with issuing an insufficient fund check for more than $1,000, to three years on the check charge and an additional year for escaping from the County Jail while en route to District Court for sentencing.

Marshall, unhandcuffed, escaped from the custody of Deputy Sheriff Harlan Kendle while the defendant was being taken from the jail to the courthouse.

Lincoln police and sheriff's deputies apprehended the escapee about two hours later in a vacant apartment at 814 So. 8th.

Officers responded to a telephone call from a person who had spotted Marshall peering in windows of the apartment building.

Marshall was arrested June 22 in connection with some $10,000 worth of merchandise found in a house he occupied.

He had pleaded nolo contendere June 25 and was found guilty of issuing a $1,195 insufficient-fund check.

Father To Be Charged For Trying To Hush Up Rape

. . . TEEN SEX CLUB ALSO SMASHED

Oklahoma City, Okla. (UPI) — Irate officials charged Friday that the politically prominent parent of one of seven boys accused of gang-raping a 15-year-old girl tried to hush the whole thing up as a "boyish prank."

An official also disclosed at least a dozen such cases and the smashing of a teen sex club in this staid city.

Police said they would file charges against the father of one of the youths accused of dragging the teen-age girl into a sports convertible and taking her to a lonely field and raping her. They said the father interfered with the investigation.

County Atty. Curtis P. Harris disclosed a grim file of previous cases in which several youths were accused of raping a girl. He said the parents of the victim refused —or failed—to go to the law.

Harris reported in another case that the 14-year-old daughter of a business executive was attacked at a party sponsored by a teen-age sex club, but her father refused to press charges. Ten boys were suspended from two high schools for membership in the secret club.

The county attorney said that in the latest attack, the father of one boy tried to talk the girl's aunt out of prosecuting because it was a "boyish prank" and would only "ruin reputations."

State Employers Respond To LBJ Youth Job Appeal

Nebraska employers have offered 3,120 jobs for young people in response to the President's Youth Opportunity Campaign, the U.S. Department of Labor announced.

Responding to Lyndon Johnson's appeal to the nation's employers to provide jobs for the youth, the success of the program has allowed the original goal of 500,000 summer jobs to be raised to 750,000.

The President had said that two million youths, 16 through 21, are looking for summer work.

Latter Day Saints Youth Attending 4-State Gathering

More than 300 young people from Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas are attending the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Tri-Stake youth conference this weekend at the Nebraska Center.

Speakers at the general session on Sunday will include Elder Paul H. Dunn and Sister Marie Stuart, both from Salt Lake City. Dunn is on the First Council of the Seventy.

The theme of this year's conference is "Seek your goal with heart and soul."

The annual conference program includes volleyball and basketball competition between the Kansas City, Wichita and Winter Quarters (Nebraska and Iowa) members and music and sewing contests:

Senators Urged Not To 'Split' On Trade Schools

The chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee Friday urged lawmakers not to "split two ways" on the trade school isue.

He recommended lawmakers pass the Education Committee's trade school development plan and reject proposals to establish state owned and operated schools at six specific sites.

"I don't see how we can go both ways," said Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper.

Before recessing for the July 4th vacation, lawmakers gave strong first round approval to the Education Committee's plan under which the state would provide financial assistance to trade schools established through local initiative.

Patterned After Milford

When the Legislative reconvenes Monday, lawmakers will be faced with first round consideration of bills calling for state owned and operated trade schools at North Platte, Sidney, O'Neill, Norfolk, Ogallala and Brolken Bow. Each of these schools would be patterned after the state technical vocational facility at Milford.

"If we pass the committee plan and a bill establishing a state trade school," Sen. Rasmussen said, "then local communities will be reluctant to move ahead with plans to establish schools on their own. They'll wait around, hoping the state will eventually decide to build the school for them."

Proponents of the Education Committee plan claim as many as five trade schools could be established within two years under the plan—in Lincoln, Omaha, Sidney, the Columbus-Norfolk area and the Hastings-Grand Island - Kearney area.

The ground rules for setting up area trade schools are contained in Aurora Sen. Maurice Kremer's LB581, which was advanced from general file on a 25-4 vote.

A companion bill, LB482, received 23-7 approval on general file. It provides that the state will offer a maximum of $100,000 every two years to each area trade school, with the total state-aid not to exceed $500,000 for any two year period.

Up To Two Mills

LB581 authorizes education service units, counties or areas meeting minimum property valuation standards to levy a tax of up to two mills to finance an area trade school.

Trade schools would be established by petitioning the State Board of Education for approval, then submitting the proposal to voters in the area served by the school. Federal and state funds would be available to defray costs of establishing and operating a school.

Sen. Rasmussen said it appears the committee plan has sufficient support to propel it to final passage. "I'm real pleased with the support it received on general file," he said.

How Not To Sell Power Mowers

Cadillac, Mich. (AP)— Hardware store owner John O'Neill gave a convincing demonstration to a customer buying a power lawn mower Thursday.

"Don't ever do this," O'Neill said, putting his hand under the shield around the mower blade.

The blade cut off the ends of four of O'Neill's fingers.

Latter Day Saints Youth Attending 4-State Gathering

More than 300 young people from Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas are attending the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Tri-Stake youth conference this weekend at the Nebraska Center.

Speakers at the general session on Sunday will include Elder Paul H. Dunn and Sister Marie Stuart, both from Salt Lake City. Dunn is on the First Council of the Seventy.

The theme of this year's conference is "Seek your goal with heart and soul."

The annual conference program includes volleyball and basketball competition between the Kansas City, Wichita and Winter Quarters (Nebraska and Iowa) members and music and sewing contests.

Senators Urged Not To 'Split' On Trade Schools

The chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee Friday urged lawmakers not to "split two ways" on the trade school isue.

He recommended lawmakers pass the Education Committee's trade school development plan and reject proposals to establish state owned and operated schools at six specific sites.

"I don't see how we can go both ways," said Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper.

Before recessing for the July 4th vacation, lawmakers gave strong first round approval to the Education Committee's plan under which the state would provide financial assistance to trade schools established through local initiative.

Patterned After Milford

When the Legislative reconvenes Monday, lawmakers will be faced with first round consideration of bills calling for state owned and operated trade schools at North Platte, Sidney, O'Neill, Norfolk, Ogallala and Brolken Bow. Each of these schools would be patterned after the state technical vocational facility at Milford.

"If we pass the committee plan and a bill establishing a state trade school," Sen. Rasmussen said, "then local communities will be reluctant to move ahead with plans to establish schools on their own. They'll wait around, hoping the state will eventually decide to build the school for them."

Proponents of the Education Committee plan claim as many as five trade schools could be established within two years under the plan—in Lincoln, Omaha, Sidney, the Columbus-Norfolk area and the Hastings-Grand Island - Kearney area.

The ground rules for setting up area trade schools are contained in Aurora Sen. Maurice Kremer's LB581, which was advanced from general file on a 25-4 vote.

A companion bill, LB482, received 23-7 approval on general file. It provides that the state will offer a maximum of $100,000 every two years to each area trade school, with the total state-aid not to exceed $500,000 for any two year period.

Up To Two Mills

LB581 authorizes education service units, counties or areas meeting minimum property valuation standards to levy a tax of up to two mills to finance an area trade school.

Trade schools would be established by petitioning the State Board of Education for approval, then submitting the proposal to voters in the area served by the school. Federal and state funds would be available to defray costs of establishing and operating a school.

Sen. Rasmussen said it appears the committee plan has sufficient support to propel it to final passage. "I'm real pleased with the support it received on general file," he said.

"Don't ever do this," O'Neill said, putting his hand under the shield around the mower blade.

The blade cut off the ends of four of O'Neill's fingers.
